Girl Bomb Suspect Arrested

LESLIE BACON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government kept a young blonde peace activist in hiding today pending an appeals court ruling on whether she can testify before a federal grand jury in Seattle about her knowledge and possible part in the March 1 bombing of the U.S. Capitol.

The arrest of tall, buxom Leslie Bacon, 19, of Atherton, Calif., on the information of a government informer was the first disclosure that a grand jury was investigating the March 1 explosion that caused extensive damage in the Senate wing of the Capitol.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia set a hearing on the ruling Wednesday of Chief District Court Judge John J. Sirica that her arrest as a material witness was valid, that $100,000 bond was "fair and proper" and that she should be taken to Seattle.

FBI agent Daniel Mahan told the court Miss Bacon was suspected of having participated in the bombing. Asked if she was wanted as a potential defendant in the bombing, he replied "I don't know that."

However, district police said the girl had been a prime suspect in the Capitol blast "for some time" along with others they would not identify.

Miss Bacon said she had nothing to do with the Capitol bombing, her mother said Wednesday in California.

"She tells me a lot of things I don't want to hear," said Mrs. John W. Bacon, "but she never tells me lies."

Miss Bacon was arrested Tuesday night on a warrant issued by Federal Judge George H. Boldt in Seattle stating that she had "personal knowledge of the circumstances and persons responsible" in the incidents under investigation by the grand jury there.

Mahan, who arrested the girl on the roof of a house in the district's northwest area, disclosed the warrant was based on information supplied by an informer for a government investigative agency other than the FBI. He called the man "S" to protect his identity.

Agencies which routinely work with the FBI on cases including the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, the Secret Service and the Internal Revenue Service, which has specific responsibility for explosives and firearms violations.

Neither the FBI nor the Justice Department would say why the grand jury was meeting in Seattle, why her arrest was not disclosed until just before the court hearing or where she was being held Wednesday night.

"She is in the custody of U.S. marshals in the District of Columbia court's jurisdiction," was all a spokesman would say.

Miss Bacon told her mother, Mrs. John W. Bacon, by phone Tuesday night that the FBI kept her in a $35-a-night hotel suite in Washington and took her out to eat in a Cadillac. She had been a peace worker for the Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice (PCPJ) and the May Day group currently sponsoring two weeks of antiwar demonstrations in Washington.

The oldest of eight children, Miss Bacon is the daughter of an Atherton lumber yard owner. Mahan testified that "S-1" had provided information Miss Bacon had personal contact with "certain individuals who were fugitives from the FBI," who said: "Evacuate the building. You may have received other calls like this but this one is real. This is in retaliation for the Laos decision." Scores of FBI agents have been investigating the explosion, which demolished a men's room, barber shop and first became aware of Miss Bacon between March 5 and 10.

An explosion shook the Senate side of the Capitol March 1, half an hour after a telephone operator there received an anonymous call from a man who said: "Evacuate the building. You may have received other calls like this but this one is real. This is in retaliation for the Laos decision." Scores of FBI agents have been investigating the explosion, which demolished a men's room, barber shop and first became aware of Miss Bacon between March 5 and 10.

Navy Jets Elude SAMs, Attack Red Missile Base

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy armed reconnaissance plane was shot down in South Vietnam nine miles northwest of Da Nang Wednesday and the two crewmen were killed.

Capt. Kotone acquitted of maiming Viet Cong prisoner. Story on page 36.

The planes were on a mission Wednesday to photograph North Vietnam's air defenses and supply routes to the south.

The command said the North Vietnamese fired four SAM2 missiles and a number of 37mm antiaircraft shells at the Navy RFI photo reconnaissance plane and its two fighter-bomber escorts. The fighter-bombers retaliated with one air-to-ground missile and eight bombs. Results of the American attack were not known, the U.S. Command said.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency claimed that a U.S. jet was shot down Wednesday in Ha Tinh Province, but the U.S. Command said the three Navy planes returned safely to the carrier Hancock, in the Gulf of Tonkin.

One informant indicated that U.S. reconnaissance missions have been increased since the end of the South Vietnamese drive in Laos last month.

The U.S. Command said there have been 31 "protective reaction" strikes against threatening positions inside North Vietnam so far this year, more than four times the number reported in all of last year.

The U.S. Command also announced that 45 U.S. servicemen were killed in action last week, pushing the total American battlefield deaths in the war past the 45,000 mark to 45,019. The command reported 518 Americans wounded and 27 dead of nonhostile causes, raising the totals in those categories to 298,289 and 9,486.

The U.S. Command also reported that a Marine OV10 peace bargaining began that the Viet Cong were attempting to scale down the war and that the United States was reacting by "redoubling B52 bombings" against the Communists.

She repeated an offer the Viet Cong made earlier this week not to attack American troops who refuse to fight and invited them to desert.

Washington officials have confirmed that some Americans have gone over to the other side and are fighting their own countrymen.

Xuan Thuy denounced a communiqué issued Wednesday from London by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) accusing Hanoi of stalling the peace talks.

"Far from contributing to peace in Indochina, the SEATO conference has, on the contrary, given its support to President Nixon's policy of extending the war," Thuy said at the stalled peace bargaining.

We categorically reject the SEATO declaration issued in London yesterday.

Thuy repeated the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong demand that Nixon fix "a reasonable date" for withdrawal of American and other allied troops if he wants a breakthrough in the negotiations.

Assemblyman Bell Seeks an Explanation

ALBANY — There is widespread feeling in Albany today that Governor Rockefeller and state agency heads have overstepped their manpower cutbacks, and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell wants an explanation.

Bell is chairman of a special Assembly subcommittee studying the state personnel cutbacks, and he now believes that more jobs have been terminated than is necessary.

Bell does feel, however, that some of Rockefeller's executive firings are "justified," because of the "tremendous fiscal crisis the state is in."

Some 8,250 state jobs have been cut in the past two weeks, a figure Bell says exceeds what the Legislature had intended before it voted to trim Rockefeller's budget.

Bell's subcommittee was formed in the wake of reports that the Governor was authorizing extensive layoffs in order to pressure the Legislature into restoring some of the taxes it had cut from his original budget package.

Rockefeller has been criticized specifically with reducing personnel in some highly "sensitive" areas, such as the narcotics and mental health programs.

Bell and several other legislators apparently feel some of the criticism is justified. After meeting yesterday with State Budget Director Richard Dunham, Bell vowed that his subcommittee will continue to probe the layoff situation until they come up with a satisfactory explanation.

Ironically, Bell voted for the budget cuts, but the Woodstock Republican said Wednesday that the layoffs "appear to have gone beyond the Legislature's intent" during the budget fight two weeks ago.

Additional news on state activities. Stories on page 4.

While Bell did not take exception with any personnel layoffs in this area, Middletown Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman said he was surprised by the proposed closing of the New Hampton Training School for Boys, stating that at no time was its closing recommended or reviewed during budget cutback discussions.

Gilman contends that the state last year reached agreement with New York City to purchase the training school lands; that a gymnasium, swimming pool and dormitories have been erected there within the past several years and that the facility is in excellent condition.

The school houses some 290 youths, all of whom would have to be transferred. It also employs some 250 staff members/private consultants are being retained.

Assemblyman Robert Wertz said 80 per cent of the 3,659 employees being dismissed by the Mental Hygiene Department were earning less than $7,000 a year and that half were earning less than $5,900. Wertz has cited several examples of long-time low-paid employees being laid off without warning or reason.

The subcommittee, meanwhile, continued hearing testimony today from state agency heads in an attempt to determine the validity of the reports.

$36 Million in Consultant Fees

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — New York State, in the midst of firing 8,300 employees because of budget cutbacks, will pay $36 million this year in fees to outside consultants, according to a list provided by Governor Rockefeller's office.

The total, however, does not include $51 million in contracts with eight firms who designed the massive South Mall state office complex in Albany. Since the South Mall contracts are paid by bonds sold by Albany County, the money technically will go out of the state cash register as the state repays the county over a 30 and 40-year period.

The list of outside consultants was made public Wednesday night by Abe Lavine, director of the Office of Employee Relations, at the request of the news media and the Civil Service Employees Association.

The CSEA, fighting the dismissal of state workers, has claimed some of those fired could be doing the work of the outside consultants, and more cheaply.

According to the list, though, the great bulk of the money goes from the Department of Transportation and the Office of General Services to architects and engineers to design state highways and buildings.

The 83-page compilation contained several hundred contracts. They ranged from $2.9 million for Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas to supervise work on the Riverfront Arterial in Albany, to $650 for a Paul Fox to advise the Office of Planning Services on "Indian History in New York State."

Also, Price Waterhouse had a $709,000 contract last year for a study which saved the state $2 million in the Medicaid program.

Lavine said:

Other contracts included:

— $1,126 per week for the William J. Burns detective agency to guard State University offices at Thurlow Terrace, Albany.

— $10,716 for Opportunities for Chenaango, Inc., to have an "action research demonstration project" for the Office of Local Government.

— $350,000 for Cornell University to promote consumer education among low income families in New York City through family assistants.

— $36,000 for the Research Mental Hygiene Corp., to "coordinate programs on hazards of smoking" for SUNY.

The list also confirmed consultants to the governor's office publicized recently by the CSEA and the news media.

They included former Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne, as a special assistant to the governor on conservation affairs at $14,045 per year; Rockefeller's campaign photographer, Robert Wands, as a consultant on photography at $1,000 per month and the governor's former bodyguard, Edward M. Galvin, as a consultant on security at $7,500.

In his letter, Lavine noted that it is cheaper for the state to hire special consultants on a one-time basis than to expand the state work force.

Rain Gives Temporary Reprieve To Area Fire Danger Situation

By WALTER S. CLARK

Kingston

Despite the overnight rain that brought temporary reprieve to the fire danger situation in area fields and wooded areas, officials of the State Department of Environmental Conservation today emphasized that the "fire season" could continue for at least two weeks or longer.

Forest Ranger Aaron VanDeBogart of Willow noted that conservation officials cannot the orize how long the temporary relief will continue, and noted that if the area is hit by winds and a warm spell the fire hazard that has existed the last few weeks, could return to this area.

Forest Ranger William H. Sussdorf of the New Paltz station of the State Conservation Department, reported that the department classification for fire danger in this district which was Class 4—high fire danger—yesterday has been changed to Class 1—very low fire danger—as the result of the overnight rain.

However, Sussdorf pointed out that the greening of grass in the lowlands should eliminate the danger of fires in fields and on lawns. He added that while conditions in the higher elevations in mountain sections of the district "look pretty good" now, serious fires still could erupt in those areas unless periodic rain showers continue.

The current rain has brought back the normal spring conditions, Sussdorf explained, but the end of the showers and a hot sun could bring back the fire hazard conditions throughout the area.

"It would only take a day with wind and the sun to dry out the moisture that resulted from the rain," the ranger noted.

Sussdorf also reported that the overnight rain in the Gardner section of the county where he resides measured .55 of an inch early today.

Rangers Sussdorf and VanDeBogart concurred in urging area residents to continue to use extreme caution while fishing, camping or hiking in the mountain areas. They noted that a "cured condition" continues to exist in the district, where fires could easily start.

The two officials said that "greening" of underbrush and trees in the higher elevations have not started and probably will not occur to eliminate all fire dangers in the mountains and forest areas until sometime in June.

However, Sussdorf and VanDeBogart agreed that the dangers of grass fires starting from burning trash or leaves, has practically been wiped out by the rain, but hazardous fire conditions still exist in the mountains because of the late greening.

Time Out in Woodstock: Single Assessor Okayed

WOODSTOCK now exert its right to appoint a full-time, qualified or professional assessor for a six-year term to replace the present Board of Assessors, composed of three elected part-time and minimally qualified men, serving either two- or four-year terms.

It also means that the board will not be passing a local law mandating a special referendum on the matter by township voters. Earlier, the board had the power to allow voters to resolve the appointed or elected assessor problem by passing a local law prior to April 30 (this Friday) that would have called for a mandatory referendum by July 1, giving voters a voice in the choice.

But, as attorney Anthony pointed out at Tuesday's special session, the board had waited too long to pass such a law. Reading from the law governing such matters, he advised the board it was too late to pass a local law, since the April 30 deadline left no time to properly advertise and publicize in the four short days left.

In recent weeks, the Woodstock township Taxpayers Association had urged adoption of a local law and a referendum vote. By now being on record as doing otherwise, the board has assured that the present assessors' terms of office will end on Sept. 30, leaving the board the task of appointing a single assessor to take office Oct. 1. The board is not expected to announce the name of the new appointee for some time.

One other matter cropped up at the special meeting, but was tabled. It concerned a request via letter by Alex Orsina to film a movie on the town-owned property at Big Deep, the former swimming-picnic area now closed to the public and often a controversial subject in Woodstock.

The tabling seemed to center on whether the movie would indeed be a cultural achievement or one that featured, as so many do these days, scenes of undress. Newly appointed Town Justice Walter Van Wagenen wanted Orsina's assurance that there would be no "nude scenes" photographed on town property; suggested the board should have the right of censorship of the script.

After some discussion on the right of any governmental agency to censor scripts in the field of the arts, the matter was tabled, with the explanation that Orsina would be invited to meet with the board in executive session to further explain and discuss his plans.

Sign Contracts for Rondout Center

KINGSTON Formal contracts for the construction of the Rondout Neighborhood Center on lower Broadway have been signed, Mayor Francis R. Koenig announced today.

The mayor said that contracts between the city, federal government (the Department of Housing and Urban Development) and the three contractors for the $293,000 project were signed late Wednesday afternoon following a pre-contract conference in his office at city hall.

Construction on the project will begin the first of next week, Koenig said. The building will be erected on the site of the old Orpheum Theater on Broadway. Adjacent to that site is a brick building which was purchased by the city from Mrs.

Bessie Bregman Gilbert for $3,000. City Building Inspector George E. Radcliffe said that building will be demolished as soon as the weather clears this week.

Barton Building Inc. of Newburgh was the low bidder on the general construction contract at $193,482. Bank Brothers of Accord was low on plumbing at $21,170 and on the heating at $36,650. Whitman Electric of Kingston was low bidder on the electrical contract at $16,900.

The federal government's share of the project comes to $193,512 with the city making up the remainder, slightly less than $100,000.

Mayor Koenig was authorized by the Common Council in April to float bonds for $285,000 and a capital note for $8,000 for the project.

The building will include meeting rooms for both senior citizens and for teenagers along with offices for the city recreation department.

The brick-faced building is designed so that phase II, a gymnasium with supporting facilities, can be built on top of the first floor. Koenig said that he will make immediate application for federal funds for the second phase.

The architect is Augustus Schrowang of Kingston who predicts a November completion for Phase I of the project.

Budd Randle Inc., of Oakland, N.J., was recently awarded the contract for the interceptor sewer lines on an adjusted bidding of $430,898.25.

The estimate of the project's engineer, J. Kenneth Fraser and Associates of Rensselaer was $631,000, which reflects a

Lindsay Ready to Submit Budget of $9.2 Billion

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The final shape of the financial settlement to be reached by the state and New York City is beginning to emerge from a blur of rhetoric and statistics.

The picture cleared somewhat Wednesday when Mayor John V. Lindsay told the City Council he would submit a proposed $9.2 billion budget by the end of the week.

Legislative leaders here have said they would not act on Lindsay's $880 million tax package until the council sends home-rule messages requesting permission to impose new levies.

But even before hard bargaining begins on the 1971-72 city budget, the legislature will have to deal with the mayor's assertion that he'll need approval for layoffs of city employees and borrowing of $360 million to make it through the last two months of the expiring fiscal year.

Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki called the announced $9.2 billion request a "bare-bones outline."

Like his Republican colleagues, Zaretzki wants to see the item-by-item budget before deciding on what Albany should authorize.

The $9.2 billion figure, based on the third of the four options Lindsay listed as possible settlements, assumes passage of the entire tax package and restoration of state revenue-sharing cuts.

Advocates of the cities are talking optimistically about restoring money denied the cities when the $7.7 billion state budget was approved.

But the general expectation here is that only part of the $880 million in new taxes will be approved. An increased tax on commuters, for instance, is considered to have virtually no chance of acceptance.

State Sen. John J. Marchi, the Staten Island Republican who heads the City of New York Committee, said he thought Lindsay would not get all he wanted.

"The big guessing game is how much he needs," Marchi explained. "I've heard estimates of $250 million."

The senator, who ran against Lindsay for mayor, added: "The question is — is he dramatizing? He wouldn't be the first budgeteer to have done this."

Sources here and in New York have been indicating the city will wind up with something between the $9.2 billion and option two, which assumes approval of $400 million in new taxes and an $8.6 billion budget.

This option would require the layoff of 50,000 city workers and the closing of five hospitals, among other cutbacks, according to Lindsay. Even the third option would require the abolition of 6,000 to 8,000 jobs through attrition while continuing most services at current levels.

Virtually all of the $880 million package must be authorized by the legislature. One exception is an auto-use tax, which the city has already been authorized but has not been using in recent years. It might bring in $10 million a year, the city estimates.

The unknown quantity is the reaction of rank-and-file legislators, whose belief in a "taxpayers' revolt" led them to override Gov. Rockefeller and the legislative leaders in severely cutting the state budget.

Will they authorize new taxes even if they apply to New York City alone? Will they approve restoration of aid to the cities through other taxation, perhaps increasing the cigarette levy?

As for Rockefeller, a spokesman said: "The mayor's budget is before the City Council. We must await their action."

He explained that a violation of the new law would mean a jail term of up to five years and a fine of up to $5,000.

Abortion referral agencies began in New York before the new law went into effect last July. They charge a fee — often several hundred dollars — to find a doctor and a hospital for a woman seeking an abortion.

They cater heavily to out of state women coming to New York to have an abortion.

During the same time the commercial agencies have been operating, religious groups and other charitable organizations have been running similar organizations at no cost at all.

These non-profit agencies will still be legal.

In addition to banning such agencies outright, two other bills prohibit fee splitting between agencies and doctors and hospitals, and prohibit any group involved from giving out information on persons requesting abortions.

Governor Expresses Intent To Aid State Train Service

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — With only two days remaining before the trains are scheduled to stop running, Governor Rockefeller has given a qualified go-ahead for New York State to support passenger service which would be dropped under the federal Amtrak plan.

At the same time, the governor has apparently thrown onto a side track a proposal by Assemblyman Don W. Cook, R-Henrietta, to create a state rail corporation to prevent a further decline in passenger service.

The only question is whether the governor's "expression of intent" will persuade the National Rail Passenger Corp., to continue trains it planned to drop as of Saturday, particularly those from Chicago to Buffalo.

After several weeks of study, the administration introduced a bill Wednesday to authorize the State Department of Transportation to contract with Amtrak to continue intercity trains.

But legislative leaders indicated no particular hurry to approve the bill, which would require a special message from the governor to be passed today or Friday.

The parentage of the bill was difficult to determine. The sponsor was listed as the Assembly Rules Committee, and a spokesman for the governor walked a verbal tightrope in describing the measure.

"A departmental bill, based on the Department of Transportation recommendations, was introduced to allow the department to contract with Amtrak for the continuation of rail service," he said.

"No appropriation was included. If the bill passes, consideration will be given to an appropriation."

Under an Amtrak proposal, it would cost New York $920,000 a year for its share of keeping two trains per day between Chicago and Buffalo.

That route was scheduled for extinction Saturday, but the governor's spokesman said it was hoped the expression of intent would convince federal officials the Empire State would cooperate with the other four states involved.

Under the bill, the Department of Transportation could also contract to continue certain New York-Buffalo, New York-Montreal and Albany - Boston trains.

There was some speculation the governor was keeping the proposal at arm's length since it appeared to conflict with commuter routes of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

Other sources said Rockefeller ruled against Cook's proposal out of fear it would become "an upstate MTA" with all its problems.

The assemblyman's proposal, which sat in committee for weeks awaiting the governor's decision, would set up a three-member agency to continue all current service and hope to restore runs through the Southern Tier.

Cook said, however, he had not been informed in advance of the governor's action. He said Wednesday he was undecided what to do about his plan, but added, "It looks like this kills it."

He explained that a violation of the new law would mean a jail term of up to five years and a fine of up to $5,000.

Abortion referral agencies began in New York before the new law went into effect last July. They charge a fee — often several hundred dollars — to find a doctor and a hospital for a woman seeking an abortion.

They cater heavily to out of state women coming to New York to have an abortion.

During the same time the commercial agencies have been operating, religious groups and other charitable organizations have been running similar organizations at no cost at all.

These non-profit agencies will still be legal.

In addition to banning such agencies outright, two other bills prohibit fee splitting between agencies and doctors and hospitals, and prohibit any group involved from giving out information on persons requesting abortions.

Senate Approves Legislation Outlawing Abort Agencies

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Agencies which have made thousands of dollars by referring women seeking abortions to doctors and hospitals would be outlawed under legislation passed without opposition in the Senate.

The measures, which now go to the Assembly, are aimed at ending what the sponsors called "profiteering on the agony and despair of women."

The only dissent in Wednesday's vote came from five senators who abstained from voting on moral grounds. They said they want the state's liberal abortion law repealed, and would not vote one way or the other on the referral agency bills.

"It's shameful we're discussing refinements of a law that lets a doctor murder the unborn," Sen. James H. Donovan, R-Chadwick, the outspoken leader of the anti-abortion movement, said. "Killing is immoral no matter how or where it is done."

Donovan and the others vowed that legislation to repeal the abortion law, passed a year ago, would get a full airing on the Senate floor.

Forty-seven senators voted in favor of the measures, proposed by the Senate Health Committee.

"Commercial abortion referral services, which have made millions of dollars at the expense of frightened and desperate women, would be outlawed under these bills," Sen. Tarky Lombardi, chairman of the health committee, said.

He explained that a violation of the new law would mean a jail term of up to five years and a fine of up to $5,000.

P. BARRECCIA

Senator George Aiken, the venerable but ever-alert Vermonter, made a suggestion on the Senate floor recently that seems extremely worthy of consideration by concerned citizens of this republic.

Specifically, the senator urged that laws governing the consecutive terms of the president of the United States be amended so that the incumbent will be disallowed from standing for re-election at all. Instead, the one term of the Chief Executive would be enlarged from four to six years.

Think about it.

After the Roosevelt dynasty, stretching from 1932 to 1945, a Congress that had been sorely tried in those 13 years, enacted legislation to prevent another political dynasty from entrenching itself in the roots of power through longevity not inimical to the character of American democracy.

Laws were passed limiting the term of the president to two consecutively. It was hoped that the spectre of an American-type dictatorship from the White House would thereby be averted. But has this method really worked in these times of real and contrived crisis? Does it really give the top echelon of federal government, no matter how conscientious and well thinking it may be, a bold and free hand to implement programs that truly benefit the commonwealth, not only the favored and powerful few?

We think not. A president still must stand for reelection to a second term a short four years after being elected, and in the theater of present day politics, four years is too short to bring long range, albeit popularly distasteful programs to fruition.

Specifically, a president who is not subjected to political pressures could appraise this country's economic condition and the incipient inflation that eats our vitals and make an unpressured decision on whether wage and price controls are the answer to this country's needs.

If he decided to institute these controls the certain strong swell of labor against such an unpopular decision and the resulting backlash at the next election need not concern him as gravely as it does under our present electoral system.

A president could decide without fear or favor whether the Alaskan pipeline is really what is needed or are the cries of the environmentalists valid and worthy of attention. If he decided against the pipeline, the political clout of big business could not hurt him at the polls since he wouldn't be in the running.

Or in pushing for an all-volunteer army and the abolition of the draft, perhaps a president could more squarely face the danger of setting up autonomous military entity with the distinct potential of becoming a power in American politics. Perhaps then he would better see the concept of a citizen-army and not be overworried of the effect of the draftable at the polls.

It could be worth thinking about.

DeMartinos Get a Reprieve; Case Goes to Appeals Court

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal judge has granted a Brooklyn couple a stay of a court order directing them to turn their 11-month-old adopted daughter over to her natural mother.

Judge Constance Baker Motley granted the request of Nick and Jean DeMartino that they be allowed to retain custody of the girl, Lenore, pending a ruling by the U.S. Court of Appeals on a motion to be filed by the DeMartinos' attorney, Jacob Fuchsberg.

That motion would allow the DeMartinos to retain custody of the child pending the outcome of all appeals in the case. Fuchsberg has said he will attempt to take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court, if necessary, a move which could take months.

Earlier Wednesday, State Supreme Court Justice Alfred Scione had ordered the girl returned to an adoption agency, which had been given the child by her natural mother, Olga Scarpetta, a native of Colombia, South America. The woman, who is not married, had originally given Lenore up for adoption, but later changed her mind.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Mid-Hudson Valley newsmen and women, in Washington, D. C. last weekend for briefings in the White House and in the Capitol, came away with a score of varied and divergent opinions and impressions on everything from a date for the Vietnam pullout to the President's press image and penchant for privacy.

In Washington at the invitation of Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., the more than a dozen members of the local news media heard Nixon's press secretary, William Safire say that the very people who feel that government should do more, are the very same people who feel that big government is "intruding." He suggested that through the President's "New American Revolution," which takes in reformation and revenue sharing, local government will be able to assume more participation.

Clark MacGregor, counsel to the President told newsmen that an immediate pullout of Vietnam is "a logistic impossibility" and House Minority Leader Gerald Ford suggested that a fixed date is unnecessary in view of the progress of the withdrawal. He said that Nixon has reduced Vietnam forces from 540,000 to 279,000 and the decline will continue to accelerate.

Sen Jacob Javits, who dropped in at the press luncheon held in the Capitol, differed, telling newsmen, "June 30, 1972 is the date I have in mind for the pullout." He suggested that Nixon's success in 1972 will depend upon his ability to persuade Congress that he "has a date in mind long before the 1972 election."

Syndicated columnist, Charles Bartlett, a favorite with those of his profession, prophesied that "Nixon will put away the war in one year"...that we will see Vietnam through "one more dry season" He also said that there are those in the administration who are completely convinced that Vietnam protestors "will" successfully close down the Pentagon May 3.

"Everyone is focused on the immediate," MacGregor had said earlier in the day. "They tend to overlook the long range implications."

He suggested that the administration has made progress

Second Decade Space Goals

Commemorating the 10th anniversary of man's first space flight, Col. Yuri A. Gagarin's historic 108-minute spin around the earth in 1961, both the United States and the Soviet Union look forward to the possibilities for increasing cooperation in space research and exploration.

Neil A. Armstrong, America's first man on the moon, sent congratulatory messages to Soviet astronauts and scientists. George M. Low, acting administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, telegraphed his congratulations to Mstislav V. Keldish, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. Keldish gave equal weight both to U.S. manned exploration of the moon and the Soviet's automatic lunar stations.

They forecast that the next decade would be an era of manned space stations in earth orbit and exploration of the moon and the planets by automatic stations. The increasing complexity of man's ventures outside his planet have made international collaboration more and more imperative, spokesmen for the Soviet space program declared at a memorial meeting in the Kremlin's Palace of Congresses attended by 6,000 invited guests.

The main emphasis was on the prospects of establishing permanent orbital stations around the earth. These would be used both for observations of the planets and the stars, unhindered by the earth's atmosphere, and for remote sensing of the earth's natural resources.

The United States is working on orbital stations as the next step in space research and exploration. The Soviet Union made an 18-day orbital flight last June in preparation for its orbital station program and is preparing another flight of long duration to study the problems posed by prolonged exposure to weightlessness, especially in readapting to the earth's gravity.

The first tentative agreements for cooperation are welcome on both sides. They will speed man's conquest of space and the benefits he will obtain from it for all mankind.

Attacks on FBI

This nation is going to have to make up its mind about whether it wants or doesn't want, law enforcement. Kansas Senator Robert Dole, chairman of the Republican National Committee, declared as much in saying that the recent criticism of the FBI by Sen. Edmund Muskie and House Democratic leader Hale Boggs is "part of a concentrated effort to destroy public confidence in law enforcement." The Republican legislator went on to say that the critical remarks were "politically motivated" and in "disregard for our country's internal security."

It has been easy for the astute citizen to note for some time that the radicals and their followers have been half-bent to get rid of the FBI, or at least to downgrade it to the point of uselessness. Whether or not Director Hoover remains in office is not the point. Dole pointed out that "we are seeing increasingly reckless attacks, not only on police and law officials as individuals, but also on their efforts to prevent crime and violence before they occur." For instance, certain radical revolutionary elements were expected to attend the Earth Rally last spring and so the FBI was there, as it should have been—on the job. Muskie objected.

There have been attempts to represent the FBI, for some time, as an American Gestapo. This is simply not true. Our country needs law enforcement and the uncovering of subversive acts more than anything.

Lest we get indifferent to the oft-repeated boasts of Soviet militarists, we should pay attention when Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko rattles global weapons, as he did at the 24th party congress. His boast that the Soviet has weapons of huge destructive power capable of reaching any point on the globe must not be dismissed. We should be everlastingly prepared.

David Lawrence Says Commission Says Red China Should Be Admitted to U.N.

WASHINGTON — A presidential commission of 50 members from both parties, which was appointed nearly a year ago to make a report in connection with the observance of the 25th anniversary of the United Nations, has just submitted a lengthy document suggesting many organizational and structural reforms. The chairman of the commission is Henry Cabot Lodge, former United States Senator from Massachusetts, U.S. Representative to the United Nations for seven years during the Eisenhower administration, and now President Nixon's special envoy to the Vatican.

The most interesting of the recommendations of the commission declares that all firmly established governments, including the government of Mainland China, should be represented in the United Nations. The report says:

"The commission has found growing public support in the United States for the involvement of the people's Republic of China in the work of the U.N. There is also a deep American commitment to the continued representation of the Republic of China on Taiwan in the U.N. These two Chinese governments each represent large numbers of people—the People's Republic of China at Peking controlling one fifth of the world's people and the Republic of China on Taiwan controlling a larger population than two thirds of all present U.N. members. U.N. activities logically ought to include both governments.

"The commission believes a great many Americans think it is fair to have two separate seats for two different governments, each clearly controlling different areas. This is not a question of dual representation for one China, but the provision of two seats for two governments. Both represent all of mainland China and all of Taiwan. A decision by these governments not to be involved if the other is present in the United Nations is a matter for each to determine.

The commission went on to say that there may be controversies about the admission of Red China or the continued membership of Nationalist China, but the observation is made that "it is fully as unfair to exclude the Republic of China (Taiwan) from the U.N. as it is unrealistic to stand in the way of the participation of the People's Republic of China (Peking) in the U.N. once that government has subscribed to the U.N. charter."

The commission emphatically argues that the United States should not agree to the expulsion of Nationalist China from the U.N. but should seek agreement as early as practicable whereby Red China might accept the principles of the charter and be represented in the United Nations. The report continues: "The admission of any state or government to the U.N., of course, does not alter its diplomatic recognition or lack of it by any other state or government.

"Furthermore, the commission recommends that the U.S. strive to establish the principle that membership in the U.N., with its pledge to the tenets of the charter, should not be regarded as a privilege, but as an obligation from which no government or state should be permitted to escape. The U.N. must eventually become a community in which duties are commensurate with rights."

The report of the President's commission is a comprehensive study of many of the weaknesses of the U.N., with specific suggestions for strengthening it. There were a few dissenting notes by some of the 50 members, but these are concerned mostly with methods rather than objectives. Senator J. William Fulbright, for example, signed the report but made supplementary comments about the U.N.'s peace-keeping capabilities, procedures and memberships. In the main, however, the objectives were concurred in by all the members of the commission.

The report clearly indicates that the subject of admitting Red China into the United Nations now has become a matter of interest throughout this country as well as other parts of the world. It is a document based wholly on the importance of making the U.N. an effective international organization. Certainly there is a point in the argument that world peace has a better chance to be achieved if all governments are represented in the United Nations and recognize their obligations under its charter.

President Keeps His Cool In Dealing With Red China

By LEON DENNEN.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA) — In the "diplomatic cards game," Bismark once said, statesmen must keep the deal and not allow themselves to be forced — by impatient critics — from the phase of waiting into the phase of premature action.

Because President Nixon, a veteran "pro" in foreign affairs, understands this, his patient and quiet diplomacy in Southeast Asia is beginning to show results.

There are, to be sure, many pitfalls on the road leading toward a full American-Chinese rapprochement. The thorniest problem is the right of the Nationalist Republic on Taiwan to retain a seat in the United Nations as a sovereign state after Red China becomes a member.

This would be a "two-Chinas" solution favored by the Nixon administration and strongly opposed by Peking. It will certainly be the subject of long, hard bargaining. Nevertheless, events have already outdistanced the "peace" demonstrators and other critics of Nixon's foreign policy.

The Cassandras were wrong again. Contrary to the ominous predictions of Senators Fulbright and other prophets of doom, Peking's leaders did not rush troops to aid North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. They extended instead an olive branch to capitalist America at the very moment when Red notables were attending the Moscow congress.

It was another blow to the prestige of the men in the Kremlin and to world Communist unity. It was Mao Tse-tung's way of warning his enemies in Moscow that Red China is an independent nuclear power and that he also can play the traditional balance-of-power politics.

Unlike Nixon's domestic critics, China's realistic leaders are convinced the United States will leave Vietnam.

But they increasingly fear Soviet domination of Southeast Asia, which the Chinese regard as their own backyard. They are aware that Russia's naval expansion in the Indian Ocean aims, among other things, to outflank and contain Red China.

Thus Mao wants to take part in any negotiations about postwar arrangement in Southeast Asia. He is even reported to favor a general conference on Indochina on the lines of the 1954 Geneva negotiations that permitted France to disengage from Vietnam.

Fear of "encirclement" or a coordinated Russian-American attack on China was Mao's nightmare for a long time. Now, ironically, it is the Russians who are suspicious of an American-Chinese rapprochement. It is their turn to fear that Peking might maneuver the United States into a conflict with the Soviet Union.

It is, of course, in the interest of the United States to maintain strict neutrality in the escalating quarrel between the two Red giants. President Nixon went out of his way to assure Moscow that his efforts to improve relations with Peking were in no way meant to embarrass or exert pressure on the Soviet Union.

But this is small comfort to the suspicious men in the Kremlin who failed to isolate Peking.

Is the Chinese-American ice age that lasted 22 years nearing its end? Premier Chou En-lai's words about "a new page in the relations of the American and Chinese people" is only a change in tactics but not doctrine. Marxist-Leninist ideology, in China as in Russia, continues to preach the subversion and destruction of Western democracy.

But the Communists, who regard themselves as pragmatists or "dialectical materialists," are never squeamish about ideology where their national interest are concerned.

A valid sign that American-Chinese relations are really on the mend would be resumption of the Warsaw talks broken off in May, 1970 after the American and South Vietnamese campaign in Cambodia.

Jack Anderson Says

Broker's Tapes Reveal How Wall Street Bleeds Customers

WASHINGTON — In telephone conversations taped without their knowledge, leading Wall Street brokers have told how the New York Stock Exchange blacklists brokers, favors big firms and takes a customer-be-damned attitude toward small investors.

The conversations were taped by Cy Baker, who used to make more than $15,000 a year as a broker but now drives a taxicab. He intends to use the tapes in an $8 million lawsuit he is preparing to file against the stock exchange. He will charge that the exchange blacklisted him while it overlooked million-dollar chiseling by big firms.

Baker played several hours of tapes for us of startling candid conversations with brokerage partners and other Wall Street operators. When we contacted them, they were outraged at Baker for recording their remarks. But most acknowledged they had made the damning statements.

They described in the 20 hours of tapes how big firms pressured their brokers to push stocks while the market was falling, how these firms threatened to force recalcitrant brokers out on the streets to sell shares, how the exchange largely ignored charges against prominent brokerage houses, how the Stock Exchange's investigators found the exchange "in so much trouble" that they ducked out on the investigation.

We discussed the tapes with other brokers who generally agreed the statements gave the unvarnished truth about Wall Street. Exchange President Robert Haack, however, angrily denied the charges and spoke heatedly of Baker.

Cheating Clients

One of the best known brokerage partners on Wall Street, in a taped conversation, told how prominent firms hustled stocks that were losing value. The brokers were ordered to "churn 'em," he said — that is, to buy and sell the stocks quickly to bring in maximum commissions.

"What about clients? How can you kill clients like that?" asked Baker.

"You know, you get pretty desperate," said the partner. We agreed to omit his name after he pleaded with us that the disclosure would ruin him on Wall Street and could cause the death of a heart patient in his family.

The partner told about a big-name firm that sold customers' stocks at terrible losses after President John F. Kennedy's assassination in order to make commissions, although a stock market rally was almost certain.

Speaking of another prestigious firm on the verge of bankruptcy, he said the exchange was "scared to death to bring it out.... What they tried to do is to find a home for them."

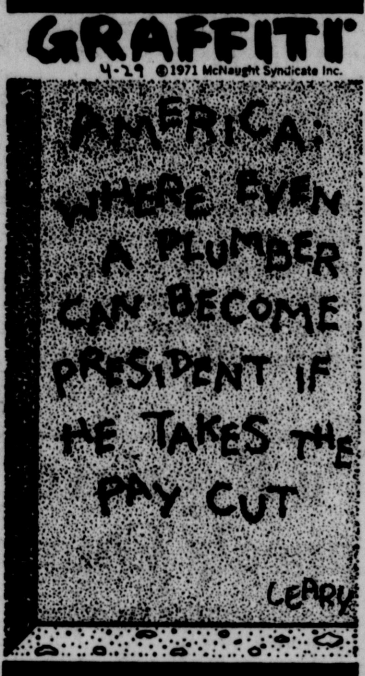

"What the stock exchange needs," grumped Baker, "is a home for them." "I think what it needs," said the partner, "is to be blown up."

He went on: "I could tell you other stories where they look the other way. Depends on who it is. They got all kinds of rule books. For example, if Merrill Lynch does something wrong not one thing happens to the partners.... Let's face it, it's not equal opportunity."

Wall Street Justice

He told of complaining about such inequities to the exchange: "I said to the guy at the stock exchange, for Chrissakes, how can you allow something like this? And he says, 'Look, you know there's no justice in this world.'"

Even former government regulators have given up trying to reform the stock exchange, said the partner. He told how a number of investigators hired by the Stock Exchange from the Securities and Exchange Commission had quit.

"They just all felt that the exchange is in so much trouble that the (exchange operators) can't get themselves out of it, and they don't want to be around."

In this Wall Street veteran's opinion, brokering "is a whore's business.... You take the brokerage business and the garment district business, and they are two of a kind. I think there are plenty of businesses around, Cy, that are not so cut-throat." He then used an obscenity to express his opinion of the stock exchange interest in protecting investors.

In a future column, we'll give the taped comments of other Wall Street figures.

Footwear Engineer — The Senate has its own shops for carpentry, electrical work and, to insure that senatorial bottoms are properly cushioned, an upholstery shop. There are also steam baths to help Senators recover from their after-hours duties and two swimming pools where Senators can cavort in the nude to soothe tired muscles. Not the least of their conveniences is a special barber shop where Senators get shaved, sheared, manicured and pomaded free of charge. To operate on their shoes, the Senate employs a Footwear Maintenance Engineer. He is Carl A. Warren who in less pretentious circles would be known as a bootblack.

Disguised Doves — Not all the protesters who have taken to the streets of Washington to demonstrate against the war, really want peace. A military minority don't seek an end to the war but a communist victory. Indeed, they would like to bring the fighting home to this country. Instead of peace symbols, they carry Viet Cong flags and red banners. It's time leaders, who are genuinely against the war, started to distinguish between the doves and the vultures.

Henry J. Taylor Says Market's Political Significance

The stock market recovery carries important political significance, or President Nixon. No administration in history was ever re-elected in a bear market.

When the President was inaugurated on January 20, 1969, the Dow-Jones industrial average stood at 931. By late May of the next year it had plummeted to a 7 1/2-year low of 631.

When the President said last April, "Frankly, if I had any money, I'd be buying stocks right now," the market speeded its reply by promptly falling right out of bed. The Dow average stood at 735 that day. It plunged a further 104 points like an anvil in a tub of butter.

Pre-Nixon, the market made several all-out tries to push up through the early 1966 all-time closing high of 995, only to be hit with a Niagara of sell orders. An estimated staggering two billion shares changed hands in the Dow's 920-950 area before the bull market finally fell a horrendous 364 points from its high with the Neanderthal zest that put it among history's fastest and most brutal collapses.

The turnaround came at the low opening on Wednesday, May 27. With that opening came a monumental rally of about 90 points in a mere three days.

A New York Stock Exchange study tells an extraordinary thing about that. It shows that mutual funds, which with the institutional buyers now account for more than half the daily volume on the New York Stock Exchange, did not cause the turnaround. It came, instead, from well-to-do individuals who buy in round lots of 100 shares or more.

In the 20-million share periods at least 100 or more big blocks of 10,000 shares or larger, bought each day by the mutual funds and institutions, were chiefly responsible for the daily volume. But in the turnaround there were only 70 big blocks during the entire three days. Just 200,000 round-lot investors deciding to buy 100 shares would make a 20-million share-day. And that's what happened.

Most of the mutual funds missed the boat entirely. They only began coming in about 100 points higher. The majority were waiting for a "selling climax" — the everything-overboard phenomenon, the indiscriminate dumping of stocks in great volume, widely felt to mark the end of a terrible fall. But the famous "selling climax" is an unreliable myth.

There have been five major bear markets since World War II. Three ended in "selling climaxes." But the two most recent before this one — 1966 and 1968 — did not. These panics seem rarer and rarer.

Apparently by the time the market reaches a level suitable for a "selling climax" the most significant sellers have sold out. Actually many stocks had already had individual "selling climaxes" and were gradually on their way up. For we do not have a stock market as much as we have a market of individual stocks. Moreover, in Wall Street you can talk about the averages. But you cannot buy the averages. It finally comes back to the individual stock and your judgment about that.

Through April 20 this year, two years and three months since Mr. Nixon's inauguration and less than 11 months since last year's abysmal low, the market's amazing recovery to 944 brought it back up beyond his inauguration level, with all the political implications that this contains.

In simple truth, President Nixon regards as always a mistake to pooh-pooh the importance of a great stock market advance or decline. Share-owning Americans now total 31 million. (In 1929 there were only one million.) In addition about 85 million have an indirect interest in the stock markets. Together, the number exceeds our nation's 82.6 million work force by more than 34 million. And the importance of the market starts, of course, with the confidence factor.

It is undeniably an element in this, and the confidence factor, in turn, can be decisive in the expansion of prosperity. Jobs, payrolls, the tax revenue on which Washington depends, debt retirement and the whole virtuous circle of expansion or the vicious circle of contraction are involved in the confidence factor.

The market is fickle and can change quickly. But one thing is certain: President Nixon knows what he needs. You can be sure of that.

BERRY'S WORLD

"... And once you open the floodgates of granting frequent interviews to reporters, you'll have to do the same for Cabinet members."

Freeman Readers Write Letters to Editor

April 23, 1971
"Right to Life"
Editor, The Freeman:

It is apparent that some people believe it is "less cruel" to kill an unborn child who is "unknown" and "unwanted" than to give it a chance at life. We also hear arguments that it is cheaper to kill an unborn child than to take a chance that it might get onto the welfare rolls. This type of thinking — which has brought so much tragedy to this 20th century already — should profoundly disturb all people of good will. It cannot be justified for lack of alternatives.

The alternatives to the irresponsible act of abortion are more accessible and numerous than ever before. Medical science, psychology, health care, all are in a better position to care for the problems of both the mother and her unborn child than ever before. There are groups such as BIRTHRIGHT — started by a concerned housewife who wanted to extend a helping hand to any woman with an unwanted pregnancy. This woman happened to be Canadian, but her idea has spread to this state. BIRTHRIGHT doesn't preach — it offers legitimate alternatives to abortion and is willing to help for as long a time as this help is needed. Incidentally, BIRTHRIGHT may be reached from anywhere in this state by dialing 260-2700.

While talking about alternatives, it might be good to mention some of the false ones being offered these days. Some think that doloing out contraceptives to teenagers will help. But the soaring VD rate in our society, which already has easy access to these contraceptives, should be noted. Promiscuity will not be cured by either contraceptives or abortion.

At the same time, we should realize the dignity and rights of any woman who carries a child within her. She has a right to the help and services of this society as well as of her friends and family. We have no right to add the burden of condemnation to her time of childbearing. We have no right to destroy her dignity by sending her to an abortionist. There is no dignity in the destruction of an innocent human life.

As an old saying goes, "Where there is life, there is hope." And as the group of nurses, young housewives, husbands and children quietly chanted to the Senators in Kingston last week, each child has a "Right to Life."

Who are we to say otherwise?

Editor, The Freeman:

Please allow me to correct certain inaccuracies contained in an editorial of April 21 titled "Social Security Leap."

First: The editorial indicated that May will mark one of the biggest leaps the social security program has taken since its inception. This is not so if it is referring to the increase only. In January 1970 there was a 15 per cent increase in all benefits.

Second: The editorial indicated the 10 per cent increase in social security benefits takes effect May 1. Actually the increase was effective January 1, 1971. However, the first check reflecting the 10 per cent increase will be delivered to beneficiaries on or about June 3. A separate check covering the difference due for the months of January through April will be mailed starting June 22.

Third: The editorial indicated that the increase of 30¢ a month for Medicare will begin in June. Actually the 30¢ increase is effective July 1 and will be deducted from the checks delivered on or about July 3.

Fourth: The editorial stated that "since the bulk of those who pay the social security tax are under 60 and will not be eligible for social security for a number of years, the burden falls heaviest on them." "They won't get the sweetener of collecting the pension toward which they have been contributing until 62 or 65 whichever cut off year they choose." The fact is that young workers and their families who are now protected for survivor and disability benefits receive the same 10 per cent increase in the event benefits are paid before they reach retirement age. In Ulster County there are nearly 1,900 children under age 18 and 400 students between the ages of 18 and 21 receiving monthly social security checks. In addition, there are 1,100 young mothers also receiving monthly checks. These beneficiaries as well as those over age 62 will receive the 10 per cent increase in benefits. Future beneficiaries, regardless of age, will benefit from the 10 per cent raise.

Apathetic Officials
Editor, The Freeman:

The Town of Saugerties has grown for the past 15 years without clear guidance or sincere interest.

Those in office who had the power to guide, lacked the initiative to do so.

Friendships played a larger roll in the development of this town, than did integrity.

Compromise caused financial loss to the citizens of this town. I am saying nothing here that isn't being said over a drink or a cup of coffee.

Our town and county officials have the gall to call us apathetic. If a citizen must play politics 24 hours a day, it is disgust that sets in, not apathy.

We see dedicated, concerned, hard working citizens, carrying apathetic officials on their backs. For the few officials who try to perform intelligently and effectively, there is little reward.

It is time to use our voting power to get off this downhill sleigh ride we've been on, let the officials deal with us rather than with each other.

Asking questions of most of our elected and appointed officials, is a little bit like talking to a chiropractor about brain surgery.

Recreation Park

April 26, 1971

Editor, The Freeman:

The Zena Area Homeowners Civic Association (ZAHCA) was formed to voice the opposition of a number of Woodstock Township residents to injustice and inequities by our local governing body.

Having achieved their laudable goal, the Association last year began to plan a "Recreation Park" to be situated near the Hunt Farms and Woodstock Park developments. There was an outpouring of feelings against the proposal. The proposal was dropped. The signs of rancor and disappointment remain.

The following quotation is from the ZAHCA Newsletter of December 1970, explaining the Recreation Park: "The park is being planned as a community project for the benefit of everyone in the neighborhood. Its basic reason for existence is to further enhance the high quality of life in our area. Sponsors of the park had received every required approval from the town and county. However, it is inconsistent for the sponsors to be even unwilling partners in polarizing the neighborhood even though we never expect 100 per cent agreement in our work."

Now a new site has been proposed—not near the homes of the potential members. This time it is on a quiet, dead-end road. Those of us who live on this dead-end road consider this our neighborhood!

This time, the opposition to the park from residents of the neighborhood is nearly 100 per cent!

A statement has been made that a portion of the proposed site be kept "forever wild," and available to everyone. Another section would contain a swimming pool, tennis courts and accommodations available only to paid memberships—limited to 300 families.

Is this not polarization? Is this not the same sort of inequity that ZAHCA was fighting against just a short time ago? Is this not a privileged few imposing their will on a neighborhood?

Let's look at the real problem! The Town of Woodstock provides no recreation facilities for its residents. There is plenty of land and water already available for such purposes within the township. In fact, the Town Board has closed some of these facilities which were previously available.

As a resident of the Purdy Hollow Road, I challenge ZAHCA to champion all of us who would like to see our existing basic resources cleaned up, improved, and made available to all the residents of Woodstock, with neither stigma nor status implied or applied.

There are, in this Township of Woodstock, many capable men who would accept the challenge to improve the total community.

As quoted again from the December Newsletter, "But with more members and workers, we will be searching every corner of the area for a site."

Look, then, at available public areas. Work to open them. Endorse the people to run for office who are concerned about the community and its lack of facilities.

Put it up to all the people! Only then will we of the Purdy Hollow and Joy Roads cease to be the dissenting residents of Zena.

Very truly yours,
JOSEPH G. MCNELIS

April 23, 1971
Disgusted, Disillusioned

Editor, The Freeman:

Something occurred in our neighborhood this week which upset me very much. Our children were playing outside when I realized that my just-3-year-old son was missing. I immediately started to look for him. As I looked down the street, whom should I see shuffling along but Johnny, dressed in his father's shoes, a shirt, snow-suit jacket—and nothing else! My first reaction was, "I wish I had a camera," because he looked so cute.

I thought no more about it until the storekeeper nearby said, "I hear they called the police on your son for running naked through the neighborhood." I thought he was making a joke, but I learned that he wasn't—a police lieutenant in squad car came to investigate the report a nude boy on the streets. When the policeman discovered the boy was barely 3 years old, he left in disgust. (I had already taken Johnny in.)

I found it almost incomprehensible that someone would take such action. First of all, anyone whose sense of propriety is upset by a child's nakedness (one would have to look very hard to see anything so small under a longish snow-suit jacket) is sick. It was so obvious that he had run out that way by himself—a mother certainly wouldn't send a child out to play attired thusly—especially in his father's dress shoes.

The second thing that disturbs me is the fact that someone would call the police on a neighbor. I cannot imagine calling the police on a neighbor for any reason, unless there was danger to my life or the life of my family. It makes me sad to think that the neighborhood we chose to move to only eight months ago has people like this in it. I also wonder how there will ever be peace anywhere when the world has people with these kind of attitudes in it. I am disgusted and disillusioned.

Very truly yours,

Futile to Blame Society

Editor, The Freeman:
The article in Thursdays edition of The Freeman entitled,

"Drug Abuse Prevention," was confusing to say the least. One does not need to be an expert to realize that the drug user is a casualty in his society, not a casualty of it, as Mr. Burg writes.

The idea that people smoke "pot" or get drunk because society has driven them into it by offering them only "standardized indoctrination in mindless conformity," "obsessive consumerism," and "blind patriotism," is a lot of hog wash.

What is more "mindless" than drug conformity? The use of poison because it's the "in" thing to do? What can be more futile than blaming "society" for one's problems? Can there be no better proof of "obsessive consumerism" than the frantic, furtive purchase of illegal drugs at fantastic prices? End result being an affluent drug pusher, lots of sick adults and bad business all around the community.

Who could be more "blindly patriotic" than the individual whose fierce uncompromising loyalties lie only with those anti-democratic forces which seek to undermine our great U.S.A.? So before anyone, regardless of age, jumps into a suicidal pact with drugs or alcohol, he should take a clear eyed view of the scene around him. He will see: 1. Many young people working hard to better their environment, not sulking in a corner looking for societies' handouts; 2. Religious freedom still existing; 3. Radio commentators and newspaper articles still carry both sides of an argument of issue; 4. Chances to change things for the better through peaceful means. And if the "great middle class" wants to distract itself with "Hee-Haw" and John Wayne, so what? We even have Joshua Heifetz! And that marvelous "distraction" is worth a million gold plated marijuanas inspired musical medleys any day.

Last, but never least, let us not forget that Jesus Christ wasn't born into an Utopian Paradise. He was poor and His young life was in danger of being snuffed out by King Herod. He owned few things and had not civil rights, yet, did He complain that the world owed him a living? Did he drown His disillusionment in wine and pot? No. He had better things to do and He set about doing them, making His teachings known to all men—whenever would listen, so that our world could be a little better place to live in. God Bless America.

Sincerely,
SYLVIA WIEBKE

Decrease in Lunch Prices for Kingston Students to Take Effect May 1

KINGSTON
Beginning May 1, lunch prices in all schools in the Kingston City Consolidated district will be decreased by five cents. Lunch prices in the elementary and junior high schools will be reduced from 35 to 30 cents and lunch prices at Kingston High School will drop from 40 cents to 35 cents. According to Ira M. Shaw, district business manager, school lunch prices were increased by 10 cents in September, 1970.

The new prices will remain in effect until the end of the current school year. Lunch prices for next year will be decided by the Board of Education. Several factors in the district's lunch program led to the reduction in prices, according to Shaw. He cited a noticeable increase in the number of lunches sold each day as one of the major reasons for the price reduction. "The more meals you sell," said Shaw, "the more money you make, and your overhead becomes less." He added that, this year, the district had been "making a profit" on school lunches, and since the district is "non-profit" the decision to reduce the prices was made. The district's newly adopted

"central kitchen concept" also allowed for the reduction to be made without placing financial burden on the district. Shaw explained that the new "concept" involves the preparing of the food in one central location, and then shipping it to each school. "It's more economical and convenient to prepare in this way," he noted. Receipt of a greater amount of federal funds over the last school year also led to the adoption of the lesser prices, said Shaw.

cation in the Biological Sciences and director of the Office of Biological Education of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Professor Richard B. Glazer, chairman of the Division of Biological and Health Sciences at the college, said he hopes the Symposium will result in an exchange of ideas and a sharing of knowledge that will aid biologists in meeting the demands and challenges of the next decade.

Dr. Kormondy received his B.S. Degree from Tusculum College, and his M.S. and Ph.D. Degrees from the University of Michigan. He has taught at the University of Michigan, Oberlin College and the University of Pittsburgh.

Books written by Dr. Kormondy include "Introduction to Genetics, a Program for Self-Instruction," "Readings in Ecology," "Readings in General Biology," and "Concepts of Ecology." He is currently writing another book entitled, "General Biology," which is scheduled for publication in January, 1972.

His research activity has been focused in three areas: energy did studies of the bio-geochemistry of zinc in aquatic ecosystems with particular reference to the role various organisms play in cycling.

He received grants from the National Science Foundation and the Society of Sigma XI to study the ecology of eight ponds, and did studies of the bio-geochemistry of zinc in aquatic ecosystems with particular reference to the role various organisms play in cycling.

Since 1949, Dr. Kormondy has maintained research activity in the American Institute of Biological Sciences and the Ohio Academy of Science. He also has received grants from the National Academy of Sciences and the American Philosophical Society to support his studies on seasonal regulation and population dynamics.

Bard Student Hurt in Auto Mishap

TOWN OF CLINTON

An 18-year-old Bard College student was injured Wednesday shortly before 2 p.m. when her car skidded out of control and rolled over off the Taconic Parkway in this Dutchess County township.

Rhinebeck State Police reported Judith Friedlander of Huntington, Pa., was southbound on the parkway when the vehicle left the pavement, went up an embankment and overturned. She was taken to Vassar Hospital and treated for lacerations of the head, according to Sergeant William Urey.

Trooper Frank Petraglia investigated.

Another mishap investigated by Rhinebeck troopers occurred on Mulberry Street in the Village of Rhinebeck at 12:45 a.m. today.

Sergeant Urey said Norman Taber, 52, of Rhinebeck was northbound when his vehicle crossed the street and hit a tree.

Taber was taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital and treated for contusions and abrasions of the body and possible rib fractures. He submitted to a blood test and later was cited by Troopers A. T. Johnson and A. R. Jackson for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

He will be arraigned later before a local justice.

Auto Salesman Gets Year Term On Larceny

KINGSTON

A Brooklyn automobile salesman, who pleaded guilty previously to one count of third-degree grand larceny — a felony, was sentenced Wednesday by County Judge Raymond J. Mino to one year in jail.

John Zaccai, 43, of 237 43rd Street, Brooklyn, had been indicted on eight counts of grand larceny, and possessing forged checks, that stemmed from motor vehicle sales contracts in Ulster County. The case went to trial and on March 22 the defendant withdrew a plea of innocent and entered a plea of guilty to one count.

Two counts had been dismissed by the Court and two others were withdrawn by the district attorney's office.

Zaccai, who was represented by Attorney Harry Gold, through his plea of guilty admitted that a motor vehicle sales contract he entered into involved grand larceny. The contract was made in the Town of Rochester on Dec. 17, 1968 with the Anderson auto agency, it was reported.

Joseph J. Traficanti Jr., first assistant district attorney, prosecuted the charges against Zaccai, whose bail of $10,000 was revoked as sentence was imposed.

Studded Tires Must Be Off Cars by Friday

KINGSTON

Police officials today reminded car owners in the area that studded tires must be removed from their vehicles by midnight April 30.

Police also noted a section of the Vehicle and Traffic Law which became effective on Jan. 1 relating to obstructing registration plates with any type of glass or plastic shields.

Acting Police Chief Julius Glassman explained that the State Highway Law prohibits the use of studded tires on automobiles after April 30. He advised car owners who have not replaced the spiked tires to do so in order to avoid citations for violations before the deadline.

Section 402 of the Vehicle and Traffic Law, according to Glassman, reads in part: "number plates shall be kept clean and in a condition so as to be easily readable, and shall not be covered by glass or any plastic material, and the view thereof shall not be obstructed by any part of the vehicle or by anything carried thereon."

An official noted that several cars have been seen in the city, and outside, that have registration plates covered by glass or plastic.

Lisman, Valicenti Head Area BCI Staff

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF ULSTER

A staff of well-trained plainclothesmen assigned to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the New York State Police and quartered at the Kingston Zone Headquarters, cover criminal cases that develop throughout Ulster County excluding the Ellenville section.

In charge of the investigators are Senior Investigators Michael Lisman and Joseph Valicenti, both veteran members of the State Police.

Lisman and Valicenti have figured in many major crime investigations in the Mid-Hudson Valley area.

In 1966, when Lisman was in charge of the BCI detail in Sullivan County, he and former District Attorney Robert MacKinnon went to Madras, India, to return a suspect to Ulster County in the murder case of an 11-year-old boy who allegedly had been killed in 1964 and his body thrown into the Hudson River from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

The suspect went to trial before County Judge Raymond J. Mino and was acquitted of the charge in November, 1966. Lisman joined the State Police in June, 1949. He served as a trooper until being appointed in March, 1956 as a corporal with the BCI and in April, 1962 was promoted to the rank of permanent sergeant. In April, 1955 he was appointed to the BCI detail and on Aug. 8, 1961 was promoted to senior investigator at the same time as retired Senior Investigator Edward Shannon was named to a similar post.

From 1962-65 Lisman was in charge of a special State Investigation Commission working in New York City. Valicenti served one year as a committee member.

After his assignment in Sullivan County, Lisman was transferred to Lake Katrine early this year in charge of the BCI with Valicenti, who reported for duty here on March 18.

Valicenti joined the State Police about 19 years ago. He was appointed to the BCI in September, 1957 and in 1962 was made a sergeant. He has served as a senior investigator since June, 1970 and prior to coming to this area he was assigned to Middletown Headquarters of Troop F.

As a BCI officer, Valicenti worked out of the Ellenville, Margaretville and Ferndale stations. During his years of service he also was assigned to Greene and several upstate counties, covering among them Columbia, Schenectady, Albany, Fulton, Saratoga, Warren and others.

Several years ago while assigned to Troop G, Valicenti rode a motorcycle, and did a short tour of duty on the State Thruway.

Assignment to the BCI requires special training in various fields, and investigators are on call 24 hours daily whenever the need arises for the men.

Vote on May 5 . . . Woodstock Taxpayers Assn.

WOODSTOCK constantly soaring cost. The Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association (WTTA) urges all homeowners and qualified voters on May 5th to search their conscience as to what the Ontario Central Schools District can afford for luxury items in the 1971-72 school budget.

At the same time, every voter should resolve to cooperate with his comrades-in-taxpaying for relentless community action to shift the school-tax burden from their homes to the state, WTTA said.

Practically viewed, it is the state-mandated portion of the budget (approximately 90 per cent) that is breaking the back of the homeowner with its school district homeowners conceivably might be able to support the approximately 10 per cent of the budget allocated to nonmandated or luxury items. However, in this time of financial crisis in public education, every school district voter is constrained "to face the harsh realities," as Governor Rockefeller has recently observed.

In any event, it is the people who pay for the public school system and in fact put up the money for the state aid they receive. But in the case of the doubly-taxed homeowner (property tax and income tax for schools) the school-tax burden is not fairly distributed.

WTTA has long believed that the state should take over the entire cost of the public school system. When it does tax justice for homeowners as "people" will be achieved.

In the interim, taxpayers must worry about where future education dollars will come from. WTTA has always stood for the best public school system compatible with the ability of the people to pay for it.

It is now recognized in the state that the state through the financial resources of the people, should assume the cost of public education, and that the homes of the people should not be directly taxed locally for the public school system, which, of legally and realistically, is the state's school system. The immediate question is: when will the state take over the cost of education and repose control of its quality in the people in their local school districts?

State aid to rural public school districts on a piecemeal patchwork basis is an obsolete mode of educational finance.

The Ontario School District community and all school districts must press hard now for early state assumption of the all, or at least 90 per cent, of the cost of the public schools. The local school budget battles of recent years are clearly no solution to the people's problem of meeting the staggering cost of public education. The Onteara District is part of a vast public education complex in which there is fierce competition between the six big cities of the state and the other communities of the state for state aid.

The taxpayers control only the luxury part of the school budget, because the Board of Education can adopt an austerity budget covering the mandate items, if the voters reject the lump sum budget submitted.

It is, therefore, incumbent on every school district voter to weigh carefully the need and complaint was made by Timothy Countryman, who accused the defendant of hitting him at 172 West Pierpont Street, causing lacerations.

Man Is Charged With Assault

Accused of assaulting another man Tuesday night, Ronald I. Gardner, 26, of 92 Grand Street, Kingston, was arrested on a charge of assault, third degree. He was scheduled to appear in City Court.

Police reports noted that the charge of assault was made by Timothy Countryman, who accused the defendant of hitting him at 172 West Pierpont Street, causing lacerations.

In the evening, a dance, open to the public, will be held at the VFW Hall from 9 to 1. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Announcement of the winners of the Loyalty Day fund raising promotion, a trip for two to Bermuda will be announced.

Rain date for the parade is Sunday. The route will follow from Finger Street Extension, left on Washington Avenue to Russell Street; right on Partition Street; left on Main Street; right on Market Street; right on Prospect Street and left on Washington Avenue to Cantine Field. The VFW Poppy sale begins Loyalty Day. Spearheading this annual drive to aid the hospitalized veterans is the Poppy Boy, six year old Edward Hendrickson, who makes his home in Fish Creek with Mrs. Mary Aiello, VFW Americanism chairman, and president elect.

Co-chairmen Joseph Cusack and Dorothy J. Wood and all the proceeds going directly to the Saugerties local VFW Memorial Post 5034, VFW, will be on the streets and in the shopping plaza next week Point Hospital or to individual soliciting sales of the Buddy Three thousand of the tiny red veterans, purchased by the Post flowers are expected to be sold.

Schirmer Heads Lions

SAUGERTIES Robert Schirmer, local attorney, was elected president of Saugerties Lions Club at meeting this week at the Flamingo Restaurant.

Also elected were Anthony Buono, first vice president; Dr. Irving Dreishpoon, second vice president; Joseph Whipper, third vice president; Robert Barnhardt, treasurer; Hugo Knauert, secretary; Edward Hellenschmidt, Lion tamer and Robert McConeky, tail twister. Men serving as directors include: Frank Greco, Bernard M. Rinaldi, Andrew Vozdick and Joseph Crotty.

Incumbent President Thomas Martin will also serve on the Board of Directors. Saugerties Lions Ulster County Men's Golf Tournament, scheduled for June 24 at the Sawyerkill Golf Course in Saugerties, is now accepting applications. Those who are entering the tournament, which last year numbered almost 100, are asked to get their applications in early in order that they may state a preference for a tee-off time.

The all-day tournament will wind up with a dinner, at which time the prizes and awards will be given to the victor. Kenneth Harder, chairman of the Tournament Committee, reports that the prizes, which include several beautiful trophies, will in the main, be donated by local businessmen. A list of the cash prizes and articles to be awarded will be published.

Public Health Committee Reports

SAUGERTIES Saugerties Public Health Committee held its annual spring luncheon at Holiday Inn in Kingston. A business meeting followed.

President, Mrs. William Brinnier announced there would be a county luncheon meeting on June 14. Mrs. Brinnier is the newly elected county president.

Mrs. Bernard Rinaldi, Loan Closet chairman, reported the Loan Closet has many items on loan and that some requests have not been able to be filled. She feels some items have been loaned out for an unusual amount of time and should be checked to assure they are being used. It is hoped items not being used will be returned promptly so others may be able to borrow them. An inventory will be taken this summer to determine new purchases.

Mrs. Allan Sanders reported on an Eye Screening Workshop that she and Mrs. Richard Sears attended. The committee voted to pursue this project, to train volunteers to test pre-school children. The need and ways of defraying the cost of a Mobile

X-ray Unit was discussed and was tabled until the fall.

Mrs. Henry Montano was appointed chairman of the Nominating Committee. She will choose a committee and will present a slate of officers for the June meeting.

Clinic assignments were made: Mrs. Rinaldi, Mrs. Charles Ollinger, Mrs. Jack Staudacher, and Mrs. Sears. The May meeting will be held at Mrs. Charles Abbott's home. The June picnic meeting will be at Mrs. Benson's. Mrs. Joseph Sullivan is chairman of the picnic.

The Saugerties Council wishes to thank all those of the surrounding communities who contributed towards such a successful drive.

Blue Patrol

Studded Tires

An informational column designed and sponsored by the Kingston Patrolmen's Association to enlighten the area citizens and make them more aware and alert to the laws and rules that are established to protect them, their families, and their property, in the hope of promoting understanding between the general public and the local law-enforcement agency's function in this modern-day society.

Section 37.2 of the Highway Law of New York State permits the usage of metal-studded tires upon the vehicles traveling over the public highways during the period between Oct. 15 and April 30, this being the normal time period wherein the highways may be covered with ice and snow, causing hazardous driving conditions. These studded tires are not authorized at ANY OTHER TIME, and the use thereof shall be a violation, for which the operator may be summoned.

If you've had the benefit of the extra traction these studded tires afford you during the past Winter months, see that they're removed from service May 1, and properly marked, so that they will be removed upon the SAME side of the car next Fall; the manufacturers caution that studded tires should NOT be rotated between seasonal designs, but always reinstalled upon the same position on the vehicle as originally, since the metal studs protruding from the tire tend to wear at a slight angle, and to reinstall the tire at a reverse location could cause damage to the tire carcass, rip out studs and defeat the purpose intended.

Now's a good time to inspect the other tires on your car, too, to see if they're safe and legal for the hot, fast driving ahead. Any cuts, bulges, bruises or irregular tread wear should be cause for remedial action, BEFORE the tire fails when you're somewhere along the road on your vacation. The law requires at least two-thirty-seconds of an inch tread depth to be legal; if they're worn that low, you need replacement tires.

While you're about it, you might consider the advantage of leaving the studded snow-tires on their rims, and purchase an extra wheel to fit your vehicle so that you don't have to remove and reinstall the tires upon the rims twice each year; this could cause unnecessary damage to the bead of the tire, not to mention the cost involved in the removal and installation. The charges incurred to take off the snow tires and install the summer treads each spring, and vice-versa each fall, could well pay for the extra rim and you could just change wheels yourself. Reputable tire dealers in the area are equipped to supply the necessary rims for your car, at the same time you purchase the new tires.

Fair Street Nursery Sets Open House and Registration

KINGSTON Street Reformed Church. Open house, and registration for the fall of 1971, will be held at Fair Street Nursery School, York State Department of Education in the area, Fair Street Nursery School is a cooperative pre-school offering three to five year olds a stimulating environment in which to develop intellectually and emotionally during the critical early years, under the guidance of experienced professional teachers. Mrs. Benjamin Emerick, All three teachers plan to take her second year at Fair Street. All three teachers plan to take her second year at Fair Street. All three teachers plan to take her second year at Fair Street.

The school holds six classes daily, three from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and three from 1 to 3:30 p.m. and follows the calendar of the Kingston Consolidated Schools.

Play experiences are the curriculum of the nursery school. As stated in the free booklet about the school, available on request, the play and field-trip experiences "help children think more clearly—live more successfully with one another—gain greater understanding of the world in which they are growing up."

Research in child development has revealed that the speed and scope of a child's growth and learning in the early years outstrips that of any period of similar length in his whole life. In importance to his future experience as a person they are thought to over-balance later learnings.

With large, window-walled classrooms, designed for school use, and a fenced-in playyard on two levels, the physical set-up is ideally suited to accommodate a pre-school program. The school is equipped with some of the finest educational material available from all sources.

Visitors are always welcome.

Legion Lists Guest Speaker For Honor America Program

KINGSTON School starting 8 p.m. and will include recognition of outstanding area Boy Scouts. Head, had received the accolades and endorsement of John Noble, author of I Was a Slave, in Russia, who appeared here in a previous American Legion sponsored program. Noble said of the guest speaker, "he is a spokesman who knows the facts from personal experience and diligent research and has the reputation and personality to complete the job." The program is being presented by the Ulster County Legion as a public service and no admission will be charged.

Another Honor for The Freeman

KINGSTON The front page of the Nov. 12, 1968 edition of The Daily Freeman, cited in 1969 as an example of outstanding newspaper typography, will once again be featured in a journalism publication.

Ginn and Company, a Boston, Mass., book publishing firm, will use a full-page illustration of that front page in a textbook entitled, "Voices in Literature, Language and Composition." The illustration will be included in a chapter devoted to newspaper journalism.

The new textbook, designed for junior high school English students, is authored by Jay Cline.

The front page illustration will be used to complement a student exercise to determine how well they absorb information on a printed page. After examining the textbook illustration, the students will be quizzed on various information included in the headlines, stories and photos.

That November 12 front page three years ago included stories dealing with President-elect Nixon and a forecast for peace; a pre-winter snowstorm that dumped 12 inches on Kingston; a Sullivan County fire that killed seven members of a single family; the death of 78-year-old retired Supreme Court Justice Harry Schirck and an explosion at the Hercules Powder Company plant in Port Ewen that injured two workers. A photo showing scuba divers searching the Hudson River for the body of a man believed killed was also included.

Home Relief Allowances Will Be Decreased May 1

ULSTER persons receiving old age assistance, aid to the disabled and assistance to the blind will continue to be the same as they are presently.

Under the new schedule, a family of one which presently receives $84 under aid to dependent children or home relief will receive $76. A family of two will go from $134 to $121; family of three, $179 to $161; family of four $231 to $208; family of five, $284 to $256.

Under the old grant system each additional person above six was allowed $45. That amount will be dropped to $41.

Those receiving old age assistance, aid to the disabled and assistance to the blind will also be entitled to an extra allowance of $10 for a person living alone or $6.25 for a person living with a family for extra needs incident to age or disability.

Ulster County residents now receiving between $84 and $329 a month for aid to dependent children and home relief, will have their allowances decreased to between $76 and $296 monthly under the new state-wide allowances scheduled by the Legislature.

The new schedule goes into effect May 1.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 29, 1971 TWENTY-ONE

City School Board Candidates Discuss Variety of Topics

KINGSTON Mrs. Corsones responded to Feraca's figures by stating that most of the increases are due to a corresponding increase in prices and expenses.

Ward Todd also commented on the "priorities of spending," stating, "keep spending within modest limits," but adding, "If it will help the kids get a better education, we have to spend it; if it isn't necessary, let's hold back."

Todd specifically cited "cross country expense - paid excursions, administration buildings and excessive staffing in administrative offices," as examples of "unnecessary" spending.

Ted Weiner cited the $356,000 allotted for renovation of School No. 7 as a prime example of unnecessary spending. He claimed that the uptown building could have been converted at a cost of only $10,000, adding, "the administration doesn't need plush offices." The administration doesn't need a public relations man either, according to Weiner, and he called for the job to be done instead by the public relations committee of the School Board. "This spending couldn't have come at a worse time," contended Weiner, "you should sit back, wait and observe before you spend money."

One member of the audience, after hearing Mrs. Corsones state that the local district spends $1,292.63 to educate each child, asked why that figure was higher than most other areas (the state average, according to National Education Association statistics, is $1,370; California averages $697 and the U.S. average is $773).

Mrs. Corsones replied that the cost of living for this area affects the per pupil expense rate and that the state mandates at least 75 per cent of the district's expenditures. She said that a variety of school programs, such as art, home economics, gym, health and shop classes must be funded by state decree.

After recounting the difficulties he's had "getting to the real facts" behind many board decisions, Todd called for the elimination of all executive sessions, saying, "Let the taxpayer see, really see, where the money is going."

Weiner said he favors "open board meetings whenever and wherever possible," and then added, "I would like to take this one step further and add that we make available a minority report should there be one." Weiner added, "I am firmly convinced that a better informed public is a more interested public."

Candidate Night Set in Hurley

Candidates for the Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated will be given the opportunity to meet the public and state their views one last time before Tuesday's elections at a candidate's night meeting scheduled for this evening, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the Hurley School. The event is sponsored by the Hurley Parent-Teachers Association and all School Board candidates have been invited to attend.

Political Rally Claims Sleight

KINGSTON Releasing his first statement of the current School Board campaign, incumbent Bevier H. Sleight Jr. today termed last week's "candidate's night" a carefully planned political rally for the anti-Board of Education forces.

Sleight was hospitalized several days ago and, as a result, could not attend last night's gathering either. Kingston Hospital authorities today listed his condition as serious. He is in the intensive care unit.

Sleight took special exception with statements made by Mrs. Amelia Nugent, the guest speaker at the first "candidate's night," sponsored by the We've Had It Taxpayer's Association of Ulster County.

Referring to Mrs. Nugent's address, Sleight said, "From all reports I have read, she made a scathing assault upon school boards and what is wrong with them. By inference all these evils apparently exist in Kingston. Asking incumbent candidates to speak under the pretext of a non-partisan candidate's night, such as this, is akin to having the Democratic party ask Nixon to speak at a candidate's night at the next Democratic convention and to be given the podium immediately following the Democratic keynote speaker." Sleight also took exception with some of Mrs. Nugent's economy-minded contentions, stating that the Kingston school district spent $45 less per pupil than her district and some $20 less per pupil for central administration in 1968-69. He also pointed out that Mrs. Nugent's school district had to raise "31 per cent more tax dollars per pupil than did the Kingston district in the same year."

BOOTH AWARDS AT EXPO — A booth created, designed and constructed by students at the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services (photo right) was awarded first prize in the "Best Overall Booth" category at the Wednesday night edition of the Kingston Lions Club Exposition. The BOCES booth utilized photos and captions set in three dimensional panels to explain the services at BOCES. Second prize in the "Best Overall Booth" category went to the New York Ceramics Distributors for their ten separate displays of earthenware. Beaver House was awarded third prize by the judges. A duel display by H & M TV Rental of Kingston (photo left) was awarded first prize in the "American Scene Theme" category. Radio Station WGHQ placed second and the Ulster County Bar Association was awarded third prize. Each of the winning booths utilized the colors red, white and blue and the American flag as their central theme and backdrop. Also highlighting last night's Expo was announcement that attendance totaled 3,697, breaking the 1965 Wednesday night standard of 3,125. The two night Expo attendance is now 7,007, also an all time high.

Successful Recycling Drive in Ulster

The Town of Ulster recycling test collection in the Spring Lake area recently was termed successful by Mrs. Richard Kobran, chairman, who with Supervisor Carmine Sabino said they are encouraged to expand the next drive to include the entire township.

Supervisor Sabino said the door-to-door canvass by the young people was most effective and that the town garage near Spring Lake Firehouse is nearly full of bundled newspapers, packaged bottles and aluminum tins. About 20 young people participated and they are to be commended for their civic enterprise, Sabino said.

The town-wide drive will be scheduled in about three or four weeks and another depot, more centrally located will be established.

The accumulation at the town garage will be sent to the various manufacturers who are cooperating in the recycling effort.

A mass recruiting job will be needed to get enough people, both youngsters and adults to participate in a town-wide campaign. A broad publicity campaign will be conducted to advise the homeowners the date of collection and how to prepare the recycled items for pickup.

Lecture Scheduled on Organic Gardening

Organic gardening will be the subject of a lecture and discussion at the May 19 meeting of the Environmental Task Force.

James E. Ashton, a talk on May 19 will be a summary of the high points of his recent lecture series.

Dear Abby: In-Laws Hog Social Scene

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband comes from a very large family and they are very clannish. The only social life anyone in that family knows is to get together with their relatives. They don't need any outsiders. I am not criticizing them, but I am not all that thrilled with a gathering of the clan every weekend for 16 years.

The Women's Liberation thing got me to thinking. Why should we restrict our entire social life to my husband's family? I have met several interesting, attractive women my age who have invited me and my husband over, but we've never gone because my husband chills the deal.

I have had it! I think more women could "liberate" themselves if they just told their husbands that they were through being pushed around. That's what I intend to do. Starting Monday!

DEAR LIBERATED: Good! And let me hear from you on Tuesday.

DEAR ABBY: There is a woman who works where I work. She's about 50. She's not a bad looking woman, but she wears a bra that gives her a shape like you wouldn't believe! It pushes her way up high and makes her protrude about a foot straight out in front. She works with young men and women, and no one can look at her without wondering what is the matter with her. She wears sweaters and knits and clinging-type clothes which accentuate that deformity of hers even more. I can't understand it. She is an intelligent woman, not cheap or on the make or anything.

Can you tell me why a woman would want to look like that? Believe me, she doesn't have to. — AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: It's all a matter of perspective. SHE thinks she looks nice.

DEAR ABBY: I work for a TV station. I take calls from the general public with regard to program information. What burns me is this: Parents who instruct a small child to call for information! The information I give them usually has to be written down. This takes a lot of time as I have to SPELL every word for them. Many times I can hear the parent telling the child what to say, so we have a three-way conversation going. Kids sometimes don't get it right the first time, so they keep calling back.

It would make my job a lot easier if parents would call for information themselves if their kids are not old enough to use the phone properly and take down a message. One mother told me after her child had called me four times with the same question that she WANTED her child to learn how to use the telephone and calling me was good training! I told her to have the kid call his Aunt Martha. — "HAD IT" AT KNXT

DEAR HAD IT: Other information-dispensing phone operators have "had it" for the same reason, and have written to say so. In the absence of an Aunt Martha, a grandmother will do.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to

Red Sox Regaining a Proven Formula

Giants Act Like All Stars

Maybe Hollywood would like to remake the old movie Angels in the Outfield. It would star not Angels but Giants, San Francisco variety, with the leading role a tossup among Willie Mays, Bobby Bonds, George Foster and Ken Henderson.

Mays, who singled home the winning run Tuesday night, got a rest Wednesday and Foster and Bonds were the co-stars in a 5-3 win over Atlanta. Foster ripped two singles, a double and his third homer, driving in three runs, and Bonds slammed home run No. 6 as the game's first hit.

The four flychasers are battling a combined .332. Bonds .357, Mays .349, Foster .314 and Henderson .294 with 16 homers and 43 runs batted in.

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets battered St. Louis 9-1, Pittsburgh held off Los Angeles 7-5, the Chicago Cubs nipped Montreal 3-2, Cincinnati edged San Diego 6-5 and Houston downed Philadelphia 4-3 in 10 innings.

American League scores: Oakland 5, Baltimore 4; Cleveland 3, California 2; Boston 10, Milwaukee 3; Washington 4, Minnesota 3 and Detroit 2, Kansas City 1 in 10 innings. The Chicago White Sox and the Yankees were rained out in New York.

Mays and Bonds are old hands at hammering NL hurlers and Henderson came into his own last season. Now Foster is coming on strong after a slow start.

Foster rapped a run-scoring single in the first inning, an RBI double in the fourth, a solo homer in the sixth and another single in the eighth. Hank Aaron, who got his 600th home run a night earlier, drove in two of the Braves' runs, moving into a sixth-place tie on the all-time list with Mel Ott at 1,860.

The Mets, who whipped St. Louis 12 times in 18 games last year, made it three in a row over the Cards behind Ed Kranepool's continued hot hitting and Gary Gentry's seven-hit pitching. Kranepool drove in three runs with as many hits as the Mets rapped 12 safeties off five Cardinal hurlers, starting with loser Mike Torrez.

Willie Stargell, who has a record 11 homers this month, settled for lesser hits Wednesday. The major league RBI leader boosted his total to 26 with a single in the fourth and tie-breaking, two-run, two-out double off rookie Bob O'Brien in the seventh following an intentional walk to Roberto Clemente.

Duke Sims and Willie Crawford socked two-run homers as the Dodgers erased a 5-1 deficit in the sixth.

Ron Santo's infield hit with the bases loaded in the ninth inning gave the Cubs their winning run and foiled Montreal manager Gene Mauch's strategy of a five-man infield to protect against a ground ball finding a hole. Santo's roller struck third base. Jim Hickman homered for the Cubs' first two runs.

The Reds got home runs from Johnny Bench (No. 7) and Lee May (No. 1) but needed a looping bases-loaded single by Tony Perez in the ninth inning to defeat San Diego. Bob Barton and Clarence Gaston homered for the Padres, who tied the score in the top of the ninth on Al Ferrara's two-run pinch double.

Cesar Geronimo tripled home Jim Wynn, who walked with one out, to give the Astros their win over the Phillies. The losers had tied it in the ninth on doubles by Roger Freed and Ron Stone.

Meanwhile, in the American League, the Boston Red Sox are hoping an old formula with a new ingredient can bring back the past.

The old formula is power hitting and strong pitching in which carried the Sox to the American League pennant in 1967. The power, in the person of Carl Yastrzemski, has been there the last few seasons but the pitching has not.

Now Sonny Siebert may prove to be the 1971 version of Jim Lonborg, who was 22-9 in 1967 as the Sox took it all.

Yastrzemski had a pair of doubles and drive in three runs Wednesday as the Red Sox downed Milwaukee Brewers, 10-3. Siebert, who pitched 5½ innings, gained credit for his fourth victory of the season without a defeat and smashed a solo home run in the process.

Not even a triple play by the Brewers could stop the Red Sox, who built a 4-1 lead after two innings and iced the game with a five-run outburst in the sixth.

The Boston victory left the Red Sox in a tie with Baltimore for first place in the American League East.

Reggie Smith homered off Bill Parsons in the first and Siebert hit his second homer of the season in the fourth. Yastrzemski's double, a pair of walks and Don Pavletich's single added two more runs in the first and Yaz' two-run double and a two-run single by Rico Petrocelli highlighted the five-run sixth.

The Milwaukee triple play the first in the club's history and the first at Fenway Park since 1967, came in the third inning. George Scott doubled and moved to third as Pavletich reached base on an error. Billy Conigliaro bounced into a routine double play and Mike Hegan turned it into a triple play when he nailed Scott trying to score from third.

Tommy Davis singled home Bert Campaneris from second base with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning to give Oakland its victory over the Orioles. Campaneris led off the ninth with his third hit, a single, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Davis' hit.

Sal Bando had three hits and drove in three runs for Oakland while Don Buford knocked in a pair for Baltimore.

Pinch-hitter Gomer Hodge's sacrifice fly scored John Lowenstein with the tie-breaking run in the ninth inning as the Indians snapped a seven-game losing streak with a victory over California.

Lowenstein walked leading off the inning and took third on Graig Nettles' single.

Dick McAuliffe's sacrifice fly in the 10th inning scored Bill Freehan with the winning run in Detroit's victory over Kansas City. Freehan walked leading off the 10th and moved to third on Eddie Brinkman's single.

Paul Casanova's two-run infield hit highlighted a three-run eighth inning that carried Washington past Minnesota. Tommie McCraw singled in one run and Casanova delivered two more when he hit a chopper down to third with the bases loaded. He beat the throw to first and McCraw scored from second.

TROUBLE AT FIRST — Giants first baseman Willie McCovey sprawls across first base after reaching for a bad throw from shortstop in fifth inning. Braves Ralph Garr was called out on the play. San Francisco beat Atlanta, 5-3, in game at Atlanta. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

At this moment about 1,800,000 cars lie abandoned in the U.S. People everywhere are throwing up their hands and walking away from cars; littering the roads with monuments to frustration.

And if you think it can't happen here, just drive around with your eyes open. You'll see. It does.

As automobile dealers, we offer a simple solution to the problem: Volvo. Volvo is built to last a long time. We can't guarantee exactly how long, but we do know that 9 out of every 10 Volvos registered here in the last eleven years are still on the road.

Spain First Checkpoint On Curt Flood Itinerary

MADRID (UPI)—Curt Flood, who quit baseball for the second time while his suit against the sport was still on appeal, checked out of his Spanish hotel today and headed for the airport.

Flood brushed aside a reporter on his way, saying he would make no comment. He checked out of the hotel at 7 a.m. and hailed a cab for the airport, but he was not on any of the early flights out of Madrid.

The former all-star outfielder registered at the small hotel as "Curtis C. Flood" Wednesday and spent the night. He would not speak to newsmen and refused to come out of his room.

During 1970, while suing baseball over the reserve clause which binds a player to one team, Flood spent most of the summer in Copenhagen and there was speculation he might be headed there from Spain.

Flood, 33, has lost his suit in both federal district and appeals courts but it still might go before the Supreme Court. He was talked out of retirement last year by Washington Senators owner Robert Short and a $105,000 contract while his suit is on appeal.

ULSTER COUNTY SPORTSMEN OPPOSE PROPOSED LICENSE FEE INCREASES

At a Special Emergency Meeting, Monday night, the Board of Directors of The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County voted unanimously to oppose all license fee increases until The Department of Environmental Conservation provides the public with a detailed financial report and some sort of guarantee on the use of funds that are received and spent under The Conservation Fund. Proposals, (now being threatened), would close the Conservation Education Camps and Game Farms, Stop Forestry Help for Farmers, and assistance to 4-H Clubs, and shorten the seasons for both Camp Sites and Ski Areas, and not to mention drastic cuts in Fish and Game Stocking. All this seems to indicate that the very Heart of the Conservation Fund is being removed to help guarantee the survival of numerous High Pay and appointive CONSULTANT JOBS AND UNNEEDED TOP

BRASS. The last time License Fees were increased they were approved in advance by the organized sportsmen of the state. That time we were given facts and figures. Now they are giving us threats and we just won't buy such a mess of stew. Commissioner Diamond, the Governor's appointee for Commissioner of the Dept. of Environmental Conservation, promised last September to consult the organized sportsmen before any license fee increases were adopted and the Governor should have backed him up. Now we are threatened with drastic curtailment of services and a request for more money at the same time. Call or wire your legislators now and ask them to vote against License Fee Increases. # Area Football Officials Favor 9th Game

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON—If the chief school officials, superintendents and principals in and around Ulster County, listen to their football coaches and athletic directors, high schools in Section Nine will be playing nine football games, possibly starting this fall.

Four of six area officials polled by The Freeman were solidly in favor of the idea. One was against and the other uncertain at this stage.

In a recent move, the State Board of Regents decided to give its approval to the long-sought ninth gridiron confrontation. And, one Section Nine official gave it the OK, leagues and schools that care to, can schedule nine games instead of the traditional eight.

"I'm all in favor of the ninth game," said Kingston football Coach Tony Badalato. "I hope we do get it. Next year, 1972, we will be playing in the Central Section of the Dutchess County Scholastic League and that would be an eight-game slate. This means that we couldn't play any of our old rivals, such as Newburgh or Middletown."

Badalato continued: "If I have the choice, I would want to continue the rivalry with Newburgh Free Academy. They're bigger and have been our toughest opponent. It would be real easy to duck them. However, the Kingston-Newburgh game is good football. And, we want to play the best teams we can. I would want to face Newburgh and keep the tradition alive."

Kingston will play Newburgh this season. In fact, the local eleven will play the same schedule it did in 1970. This will change in 1972. Kingston will play DCSL opponents:

Saugerties, Arlington, Roosevelt, Poughkeepsie Beacon, Our Lady of Lourdes, John Jay and Roy C. Ketcham. If the ninth game is approved, and Badalato has his way, the odd opponent will be NFA.

However, if the DCSL accepts Spackenkill into the Central Section, then Kingston would have nine league opponents and the NFA-KHS series would be terminated. This doesn't appear to be in the immediate future. And, sources close to the DCSL seem to indicate that Spackenkill, when accepted, will probably go into the Bi-Valley or Harlem Valley section.

John Stefano, Ontario High School principal and the president of the Ulster County Athletic League, likes the idea of the ninth game.

"I am very much in favor of it," he said. "The way the UCAL is now, what with expansion and all, we would have to miss one opponent every year. If the game is approved, then we could have a complete round-robin play. It would really help the league. Of course, it's up to the chief school officers and the league," he stated.

John "Chick" Meehan, Rondout Valley AD, has some mixed emotions about the added tilt.

"I'm just wondering about the over-lap of the seasons, basketball and football. It would take some added adjustment. But, I'm sure it could be worked out. It would mean a lot to us in the UCAL. We could now face everyone in the league in one season. This would really help a great deal."

"The 13th of November is still very much in favor of the ninth game," said Lem, last year's Daily Freeman pick as Ulster County Football Coach of the Year. (Highland won the UCAL title). "Now, if it's approved, we, in the UCAL, can play a full league schedule and not miss anybody. There may be some over-lapping. But, I'm sure it could be worked out."

Wallkill, a very great rivalry. Now we can play. I'm elated! This is ideal for the league."

Johnson's Highland counterpart, Lem Atkins, feels much the same way.

"We at Highland would be very much in favor of the ninth game," said Lem. "Last year's Daily Freeman pick as Ulster County Football Coach of the Year. (Highland won the UCAL title). "Now, if it's approved, we, in the UCAL, can play a full league schedule and not miss anybody. There may be some over-lapping. But, I'm sure it could be worked out."

Saugerties Athletic Director Fred Seither feels that an over-lap will occur, causing problems for smaller schools.

"You would have a situation, like we face here at Saugerties, where many boys play both sports because of the size of the school. A boy would be taking off his shoulder pads and putting on his sneakers. Using the ninth game for a playoff might be a solution. But, if it is given area approval, we don't plan, as yet, to make use of the prerogative here at Saugerties," he concluded.

Monticello Raceway Launches 14th Season Tonight

MONTICELLO—Monticello Raceway launches its 14th season of harness racing tonight with a controversial new wagering form—The Superfecta. And every indication that the quality of racing will be the track's best yet. Post time is 8:45 p.m.

The new Superfecta, another of President and General Manager Leon Greenberg's betting innovations, challenges the bettor to select the first four finishers of the 10th race.

A $72 ticket will enable the bettor to "box" four horses. If the four horses picked finish in the top four—in any order at all, the ticket is a winner. The Perfecta form of wagering will be retained by the Raceway.

Two newly appointed racing officials make their debut with tonight's opening program—C. Stuart McLean Jr., Director of Racing and Ralph Swalsky, Racing Secretary.

While an excellent opening night is anticipated, if the weatherman cooperates, it is not expected to threaten the all-time first night turnout of 12,056 set on May 15, 1969.

The five top percentage leaders of 1970 are returning for the Mighty M's opening, with well stocked stables ready to race. Of last year's select group, Clint Galbraith will have the largest barn on the grounds with Free For All trotter, Top Freight, and pacing filly Freight Catch the standouts. Last season, Galbraith won 48 times in 289 starts for a win percentage of .167.

From another viewpoint, it's like father, like son. At least that's what Arthur Koch hopes. And if 3-year-old Emperor Dapple can pace at Monticello this summer as he did in New York this winter, he'll do his daddy proud.

Emperor Dapple is favored to win the 10th race tonight and is the Trackman's Best Bet for the night.

Daddy Koch, of course, is former Free For All star Little Emperor, who Koch purchased as a 3-year-old for just $4,500. Little Emperor was hardly worth more after his two-year-old season, but under Koch's patient tutelage, the gray bled standardbreds.

Like his old man, Emperor Dapple wasn't exactly a world beater as a freshman. In 1970, the brown colt earned just $1,022, recording only one triumph in 13 starts and that in a sluggish 2:10.

But Koch, who left a lucrative construction business for a more deliberate life in harness racing, believed that Emperor Dapple, like his sire, needed a little more time. "The thing you need in harness racing that you can't afford in construction is patience," said Koch. "This colt just needed a little prodding."

Koch's gentle prodding paid off. In January, he shipped the

New York-bred to Yonkers for a 3-year-old early closing series. Lightly regarded at first, Emperor Dapple began pacing around 2:08, 2:07 and finally, after moving over to Roosevelt, scored in 2:06, showing his heels to such standardbreds as Tired and Dream Express. So far, in 13 1971 starts, the "Junior Emperor" shows a log of 2-4-3 and earnings of $15,342.

Emperor Dapple, who drew the No. 7 post for tonight's Superfecta debut at the Mighty M, is Koch homebred as are stablemates Tarloater, Fundy's Tide and Royal Dapple.

For the 55-year-old trainer, who owns and runs the Dapple Gray Farm of Montgomery, N. Y., harness racing is a lot more than just slipping into the sulky before this evening's 10th race.

"The great pleasure in this game is to select a mare, breed it to a good stallion, help it foal. Then raise it from a suckling to a yearling," says Koch. "You watch his legs straighten out and his color come in," he adds. "He starts romping and soon begins to recognize you. Then you hitch him up to a harness and break the yearling to the sulky. You teach like you would teach a child and then the driver becomes his companion in racing."

"Finally," Koch concludes, "that big moment amidst the pageantry and the excitement when you bring your colt out for his first post parade. I tell you, it's like taking your son to his first ball game."

The great labor unions of the Hudson Valley will be feted at tonight's opener. Twenty-five different trades will be represented when the track presents its traditional "Salute to Labor."

Baseball is not the only sport with doubleheaders. Monticello Raceway has scheduled 13 for the 1971 season, beginning May 29. Most of the matinees are slated for Saturdays, with Daily Double, Perfecta, and Superfecta wagering under the sun, too.

Oscar Predicts Clincher Friday

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"I expect to win it Friday," Oscar Robertson—the "Big O"—was holding court in the Milwaukee Bucks dressing room Wednesday night following the Bucks' 107-99 victory over the Baltimore Bullets. Robertson wasn't bragging. He was just being factual. "We're going to go out after the title Friday," he said. "There's just one more to go." The Bucks hold a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven games championship playoff finals with the fourth game scheduled to be held in Baltimore Friday. A victory there would give Milwaukee its first NBA title in only its third year of existence. Robertson was obtained in a trade by Milwaukee last year. This is the first time in his 11 years in the league that he has played in the championship finals. Unlike the younger Bucks, Oscar has shown no emotion as Milwaukee closes in on the crown.

"It's different when you're not expecting something," he explained. "But I expect to win the championship. I expect to win it Friday." Robertson scored 20 points and was credited with 12 assists Wednesday as he helped pace the Bucks to victory. High for Milwaukee were Bob Dandridge with 29 points and Lew Alcindor with 23. Several times the Bucks appeared to be running away from Baltimore only to have the Bullets spurt back into contention. The crippled visitors were led by Jack Marin's 21 points and a 20-point performance by Wes Unseld. "I can't find anything wrong with our defense," said Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello. "But our offense wasn't sharp at all. We weren't moving the ball, we were dribbling too much." Costello said the Bullets are working harder on defense now than they did during the regular season. "We were up for the game," he said. "We were ready, but we weren't sharp. Part of that could be the Baltimore defense. It's strange. We've beaten them three times and haven't played a good game yet." Baltimore forward Gus Johnson sat on the Bullets' bench in his street clothes because of his injured knees. Baltimore almost received another setback in the third period when guard Earl Monroe collided with Milwaukee's Bob Dandridge and hobbled through the remainder of the game. Like his players, Costello is also anxious to end the series this Friday. "I certainly don't want to play five games," he said. "I've seen enough basketball this season."

Stars Set Their Own Pace

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Coach Bill Sharman told his Utah Stars at half time to be patient even though they were trailing. The Stars didn't have to test their patience long as they came out and scored 41 points in the third period en route to a 108-101 victory over Indiana in the seventh and deciding game for the ABA Western Division playoff title.

Utah advanced to the final round against Kentucky, which tentatively opens Saturday at Salt Lake City. A scheduling conflict for the Salt Palace could delay the start of the series. "We were down by seven at the half and I told them to work for good shots and be patient," Sharman said. "They didn't lose their poise."

"When you have two teams as evenly matched as Indiana and Utah, it's the team with the hot hand that's going to win," Sharman said. "We shot 71 per cent in the third period and I feel that definitely our shooting in the third period was the deciding factor."

"I've got to give our guys a lot of credit," he said. "They played some game. This was do or die."

While champagne flowed in the Stars' dressing room after the game, the Pacer locker room was gloomy and Coach Bob Leonard declined to talk to newsmen. Utah's Ron Boone, who scored 10 points, said when Merv Jackson hit two key baskets in the fourth period, "We knew we had it. It was a matter of which team had the

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI)—National amateur champ Lanny Wadkins met former champ Bill Hyndman and four-time winner Bill Campbell faced Steve Melnyk in two of the top matches today in the fourth round of the 71st annual North-South invitational mens amateur golf tournament. The fourth-round winners went straight into quarterfinal competition. Defending champion Gary Cowan of Canada was eliminated 2 and 1 Wednesday by Peter Zaccagnino, a criminal lawyer from Hartford, Conn. Wadkins, a Wake Forest University student, defeated

Joe Frazier Ready to Fight Either Foreman or Cassius

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier said Wednesday he'd fight Muhammad Ali or unbeaten George Foreman for the title anytime, providing it's after Jan. 1. "I won't fight again for the title this year," said Frazier, "but I'll give Ali a return match whenever he's ready next year." Asked if there were any other logical contenders for his title besides Ali, Frazier said "George Foreman of Hayward,

Rain Cancels Area Contests

KINGSTON In case you didn't notice, it rained yesterday and the wet weather took care of most events on the area sports schedule. Ulster County Community College was to play a "home" game against Sullivan Community at New Paltz State. Instead, Coach Al DiBernardo's team was rained out for the second straight time. The State diamond team was in Cortland to face the hometown Dragons, but that too was postponed. In high school baseball, Kingston at Saugerties, Red Hook at Haldane, and Cornwall at Marlboro were knocked out. Golf matches between Ontario and Kingston and Coleman and Rondout also went down the drain. One track and field meet was washed away: Lourdes at Saugerties. They'll try again with that one today.

Jackman was the standout for New Paltz with his wins in the 120 high and 180 low hurdles, the former in a new team record time of 15 seconds. But the freshman's biggest effort came in the mile relay where, running the third leg, he made meeting a "real good com-petitor" for the first time in Al Leone, brother of Hawk shot putter Vinnie.

The Pacers, led by Billy Keller's 33 points, held a 51-44 halftime lead.

Robbins finished with 25 points followed by Zelmo Beaty with 17 and Combs with 15. Mel Daniels and Roger Brown each scored 18 for the Pacers and Warren Armstrong had 12.

Your Horoscope

Friday, April 30

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day can bring considerable difficulties through misunderstandings and a breakdown in communication between people. However, as the day advances there is much more ability to put ideas across to others.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Instead of raising a rumpus at home, do something considerate for family and establish real harmony in that important realm of your life. Be tactful where money is concerned. Show kindness to one who is ill.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Loyalty shown to those who are helpful in daily dealings is wise now so that you maintain excellent relationships. Relegate shopping, visits to the afternoon. Morning should be spent at work.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) That financial investment is best put off until afternoon when you have thought it over very carefully. Morning finds you worried about finances, but later you see your way clear to doing what you want to do. Have a positive attitude.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You feel irritable in a.m. and want to take it out on good people you rely upon, but this would be most unwise. Go along with their ideas instead. Wait until evening for the recreation you enjoy.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keep that promise you make in a.m. so that you can work on a new plan you have in the evening which is most important to you. Confer with expert who thinks clearly and accurately. Then you gain your aims.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of being forceful in a.m. in an effort to achieve a purpose, think how to do so diplomatically, and then go full speed ahead later. Get routine tasks done early. The evening can be very rewarding from the social standpoint.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although some civic or other matter has you in a dither early, await the afternoon before doing something constructive about it. Then you use good judgment. Get back on your feet where credit is concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Await the afternoon before going off to new places and with new contacts to get the best results therefrom. Get busy in clearing up duties at hand in a.m. Contact that person out of town who can be of great help.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although you think you have so much work it is impossible to handle, if you schedule time and activities wisely, you can plow right through it easily. Don't let mate's peevishness get on your nerves. Rise above them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to come to a fine understanding with an associate who is overly emotional now. Don't stoop to teasing. Evening is the best time to come to that reconciliation you desire.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can handle your tasks more successfully than usual today, provided you make plans first. Profits will increase accordingly. Consult with co-workers and hit on the right methods for efficiency.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Use diplomacy at home, or you can certainly start a rumpus that is best avoided. All improves by evening. Try to please kin more. Concentrate on important work that has to be done, instead of going off on tangents.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people full of vim and vigor who wants to be sure of his or her rightful place whether in the home or elsewhere, so it is important for you as parents to show you are devoted and give the sense of security needed. Then this becomes a successful chart, especially in the field of business. There is a fine practical mind here and plenty of ability at merchandising. Sports are important in early life. Some discipline, too.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PAST: (Q.) I can't get my girl friend's past out of my mind. She told me two weeks ago that from the time she was 13 until just before she started going with me she smoked and went on parking dates with boys. She said she didn't want to hide things from me.

She's 16 now and doesn't do those things and I like her. But I can't sleep at night thinking about what she's done. Can you help me?—18 and Very Upset in Anaconda, Mont.

(A.) The really valuable thing about your letter is that by reading it other young girls can know how most boys truly feel about a girl who does too much too soon.

If you are convinced your friend has changed for good, can accept her past, and can forgive her for it, you can remain good friends with her.

But if you can't the only way to be fair to her and to yourself is to break up.

SEX VACUUM: (Q.) I am graduating from high school and getting married this summer. My mother died when I was a baby. I never learned much about sex except from jokes and from reading things on bathroom walls. My adult relatives think sex is dirty and won't talk about it. Do you know a good clean book I could read about it.—Just Do Not Know in Oklahoma.

(A.) You are one of the many reasons why I believe in adequate sex education in public schools. I'm sending you the name of a book that gives the facts straight and clear. It is a little advanced for the average teen-ager. But you need to make up for lost time.

Some Reruns Interesting

NEW YORK (AP) — There is something about watching reruns of a television series after it has been canceled. Very often it looks a little better than it did the first time.

"The Men from Shiloh," for instance, started the season looking less interesting as family entertainment than it did through all those seasons when, as "The Virginian," the half-dozen series regulars worked as a team. The stars were split up, each having his own adventures.

Obviously, the remodeling failed, and the series is down the NBC drain. Still, Wednesday night's story which the Virginian-James Drury—had to himself added up to acceptable escape fare.

It was one of those oft-told Western tales in which the hero is mistaken for a murderer and almost hanged. In this case, the noble, steely-eyed Virginian escaped the noose that was literally around his neck and galloped off to find the culprit.

There was the usual amount of skulking around and shooting, but it kept the viewer awake. It is hard to see how one could sit quietly through it for a second time, however.

"Music Hall," another series NBC is dropping after a long run, will return occasionally next season as a special. Week in and week out, this has been a true variety hour with assorted hosts, guest stars and types of light entertainment.

Perhaps the most attractive of the lot have been the handful of programs with comedian Alan King at the helm.

The rerun Wednesday had some moments with King at his best in a slashing monologue. He flailed away wittily at some of his favorite targets, from doctors who won't make house calls to toasters that pop up with overdone or underdone toast.

While King does inject himself in some areas where he is not at his best, singing with Lena Horne, for instance, he is a pretty good sketch actor. And the skits on his shows are usually well written and funny and have a point of view. What's more, they appear to have been rehearsed, a claim not often made by a number of other variety hours.

Sen. Aiken to Radicals... Why the Hell Do You Stay Here

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Scowling at the five ragged young radicals, the 80-year-old dove senator from New England said, "Why the hell do you stay here if other countries are so much better?"

The statement from Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., came Wednesday during a bizarre two-hour confrontation between antiwar radicals and members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Vermonter, a longtime critic of the Indochina war who often has split with President Nixon on the issue, made the remark after the radicals had explained to him the American system of government must be changed and the government closed down by force if necessary.

Senators Criticized

He and other committee members permitted five revolutionaries involved in "May Day" antiwar protests in Washington to testify. Although the committee for years has been the central forum for congressional dissent over the war, its members bluntly told the protesters they had no sympathy with their tactics and some of their goals.

"I'll tell you one thing," said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., "I'm not going to be intimidated."

The radicals charged "that Sen. Hugh Scott, the Senate Republican leader, was 'paranoid' and a 'criminal' and that all the committee members, hawks and doves alike, were tools of the administration 'strategy to prolong the war.'"

The hearing was arranged Monday when the demonstrators disrupted a committee session and committee chairman Sen. J. William Fulbright,

D-Ark., promised them he would let them speak later if they would be quiet.

'You Want Revolution'

The witnesses included Chip Marshall, 26, a Cornell University graduate who has been indicted for conspiracy to bomb a government building in Seattle; John Scagliotti, 22, a "Gay May Day" organizer; Jay Craven, 20, a former Boston University student body president who has been in touch with North Vietnamese negotiators; Susan Gregory, 29, of Seattle, who recently met Viet Cong negotiators in Paris, and Cathy Sister, 18, of Washington, D.C.

Marshall said the committee had done "the dirty work of the administration" by providing an escape valve for rising national pressure to end the war.

When Marshall called Scott a "criminal," Scott said Marshall was being "deliberately provocative" and could only hurt the antiwar movement.

"We don't want sympathy, we want action," Marshall replied.

"You want revolution," Scott said.

"You don't like the U.S. government," said Aiken.

"But I love the United States," Marshall replied.

Briefing French Officials

Rogers Hopeful of Mideast Peace

PARIS (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers, confident the possibility of peace in the Middle East "has never been better," flew to Paris today to brief French officials on American efforts to get an Arab-Israeli agreement to reopen the Suez Canal.

Rogers was making a two-hour stopover in Paris to meet with Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann after attending a two-day Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) conference in London. From Paris he goes on to Ankara, Turkey, for another conference with the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO), then to visits in the Middle East.

The Secretary of State went directly from Orly Airport, where he was met by U.S. ambassador Arthur K. Watson, to the foreign ministry for his conference with Schumann.

In a television interview in London, Rogers said in reference to the Middle East, "I think there is a prospect of a peace agreement in the area... The climate (for peace) has never been better."

Rogers tour of Europe and the Middle East is aimed primarily at attempting to bring Egypt and Israel closer to an agreement that will allow them to reopen the Suez Canal, closed since the 1967 war.

U.S. feeling is that in reopening the canal a major step towards an eventual peace would be made.

Meanwhile, Israel marked its 23rd anniversary as an independent nation today with a display of military might underlined by sophisticated weaponry.

Despite the military show, it was Israel's most peaceful independence celebration in many years. A cease-fire along the Suez Canal is in its ninth month and there has been no major action recently along the frontiers with Arab nations.

In London, U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers told a television interviewer "I think there is a prospect of a peace agreement in the area (the Middle East). The climate has never been better. People now are accustomed to peace, tourism is now booming in the area, there has been no fighting for about nine months, King Hussein has Jordan under control, the fedayeen (guerrilla) movement is now not as strong as it was."

Rogers is on a tour of Europe and the Middle East, with visits to Saudi Arabia, Jordan, his policies after forming the Lebanon and Egypt scheduled before he goes to Israel. It will be the first such tour by a U.S. Secretary of State in 18 years.

In Cairo, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said he will make an "important" speech Saturday—a few days before Rogers' arrival.

Political sources said Sadat was expected to outline Egypt's position on the issue of reopening the Suez Canal and Arab federation with Libya and supplied Phantom and Skyhawk jet fighter-bombers. Off the Mediterranean beaches of Tel Aviv and Haifa, missile-firing gunboats passed in naval review while paratroops dropped from transport planes.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) reported from Cairo that Israeli occupation authorities in the Sinai have taken "a series of terroristic measures during the past two weeks aimed at pressuring the citizens into leaving the area." Israel has occupied the Sinai since the 1967 war.

Israel's independence day celebrations today were marked by a flight of American-supplied Phantom and Skyhawk jet fighter-bombers. Off the Mediterranean beaches of Tel Aviv and Haifa, missile-firing gunboats passed in naval review while paratroops dropped from transport planes.

Capt. Kotouc Is Acquitted Of Maiming Viet Prisoner

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) that, if evidence warranted, it could find Kotouc guilty of lesser charges of assault with a dangerous weapon by neglecting today of maiming a suspected Viet Cong prisoner after the My Lai raid of 1968.

The jury of seven career Army officers, all but one of them Vietnam veterans, deliberated little more than an hour before returning the verdict in a paneled courtroom at 3rd Army headquarters near Atlanta.

Kotouc stood stiffly at attention as friends and relatives cheered at the verdict. The panel of seven officers, all but one of them combat veterans, got the case today following closing arguments and final instructions from the military judge, Col. Madison Wright.

But during arguments Wednesday, it was agreed that the court would instruct the jury steadfastly refused to talk so he had the man's hand placed on the board, and began tapping the board with the knife and threatening him.

"I went down like that and the knife hit the board," Kotouc said, gesturing with his finger.

assault and battery. He could have been sentenced to five years for intentional assault, or six months for assault and battery.

An affidavit had been read into the record in which Kotouc admitted cutting off the finger of the suspect during questioning on March 16, 1968.

Kotouc took the stand in his defense Wednesday to admit severing the tip of the suspect's finger, but said he did so unintentionally.

"I did not intend to strike that man with the knife," Kotouc testified during two and a half hours on the stand. "I intended to induce fear into the man the way I'd been taught."

Kotouc said the suspect

Army to Probe Ex-GI Report Of Massacre in Viet Village

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. Army spokesmen say they intend to probe the report of a former enlisted man that an American squad killed 30 women and children in a Vietnamese village in April, 1969.

The story was told Wednesday to an unofficial House war crimes committee by Danny Spencer Nolley, 23, of St. Paul, Minn., who said he was a member of a 10-man Americal Division squad which entered the village of Truong Khanh No. 2 in Vietnam's Quang Ngai province April 19, 1969. The province was the scene of the My Lai massacre.

Nolley, a journalism student at the University of Minnesota, said that although the Americans met no hostile fire they began "shooting women and kids... they didn't say anything, they were just shooting."

Nolley testified he tried to fire into the ground. He said the incident was brought to the attention of the lieutenant colonel who commanded his battalion but the officer did nothing about it.

A Pentagon spokesman said the army would "make every attempt to contact Nolley and elicit a statement from him." He said Nolley's story appeared on the surface to warrant an investigation because it contained so many specifics. The unofficial committee, made up of 10 House liberals and headed by Freshman Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., is attempting to force a full-scale congressional inquiry into alleged war crimes by U.S. servicemen.

The liberals want Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, to order an official investigation of the war crimes charges.
